

Digging To Start on Our Side of Tunnel Soon

By JANE PUTNAM

Digging will begin on the east end of the new Caldecott Tunnel next week, according to Harry Greshuk, tunnel superintendent for builders Connolly, Grafe, Brayer and Harney. Since operations on Caldecott Tunnel 2 began, November 11, 1961, the down-to-earth project has been in the hands of Greshuk, a down-to-earth man. Thirty years in the business, he is considered by his associates to be "the best tunnel stiff" in the world.

TRAFFIC is expected to go through the new tunnel in September, 1963. It is a little behind schedule due to a late start awaiting completion of moving the road and hitting bad ground.

Total length of Caldecott 2 will be 3400 feet. Digging has progressed from the west end 244 feet. It will continue as Operation Burrow begins on the east end. Due to the proximity of Fish Ranch Road, Greshuk says: "We don't dare blast."

As was the case when digging began on the west end, small drills will be used—air tools and spade. In his soft voice, with a Russian accent, Greshuk reduces how-to-start-a-tunnel to layman's terms.

FIRST, THREE small "drifts" are drilled. Each of these will be approximately six by seven feet. One will be at the top, one on the left, one on the right. After about 200 feet, the drifts will be joined together and blasting commence. When the tunnel's east and west ends are joined, it will make for better ventilation.

Going toward Orinda, Caldecott 2 is 150 feet left of the old tunnel. According to the plans of the State Division of Highways, traffic will move one way in two lanes with no center partition. It will be 28 feet wide with a two-foot and a four-foot sidewalk on either side. Although not yet open for bid, a third tunnel is scheduled along-side Caldecott 2.

Greshuk explains that a much wider tunnel could not be done safely in one bore. There would be too great a risk, for instance, in excavating a six-lane tunnel. When Caldecott 2 is completed, he says there will be "no worry forever" concerning it.

SIXTY MEN are now employed on the job, and more will be after the bench is reached. Although 50 to 100 pounds of TNT go off with each blast, Greshuk's crew has a perfect safety record.

When the old tunnel was built, in 1934-37, four men lost their lives in a cave-in. This was caused by loose dirt when they hit a fault. Greshuk explains that they had timber supports in those days. There isn't as much danger today as "we have fancy steel supports" as a safeguard in Caldecott 2.

Another relatively new piece of equipment is the "Jumbo." It is like a platform with hydraulic jacks to hold the ground in place. Originally it cost about $70,000.

When the excavation is completed, the tunnel sides will be lined with concrete, then tile. Two fresh air exhausts will offer the latest ventilation system.

AS ALWAYS, Greshuk lives on the job with his wife. His present address is a red trailer on Tunnel Road. Mrs. Greshuk, "a perfect construction wife," gives it a homey touch, such as putting hydrangeas on the window sill.

At one time, Greshuk held the world's record on tunnel driving: 1200 feet in one month. He has worked on every type of tunnel from one end of the United States to the other.

Among the jobs he supervised was the Metropolitan Los Angeles Aqueduct, Iron Mountain Tunnel.

He was supervisor of the Hetch Hetchy project at Yosemite, at that time the world's longest aqueduct. It was 29.6 miles through most difficult ground.

WE LEARNED of these accomplishments through his co-workers rather than from Greshuk, who is modest to the point of shyness. An insurance executive, Norman Jarrett of Orinda, tells how his company once furnished Greshuk with a limousine to get him back on the job while he was recuperating from a major operation.

This was on the Clear Creek Tunnel in Redding. They were having trouble with water, cave-ins, explosions and had many cases of bodily injury, Jarrett says, until Greshuk returned to the job.

Before coming to Orinda, he spent three years on the Clear Creek project.

In New York in 1940, his co-workers dubbed Greshuk "the mad Russian." The name has stuck to him—as has his reputation for being anything but mad.

SUPERVISOR HARRY GRESHUK points out the steel supports inside of Orinda's Caldecott Tunnel 2 to Sun reporter Jane Putnam. A superstition of "tunnel stiffs" prevents outsiders from going into the tunnel while the men are working on it. Sun photo by Lee Combs.

Highway Advisory Group Present Road Proposals

Three freeway requests were presented to the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday by the county's Highway Advisory Committee along with other new roads in the city-county thoroughfare system.

A request for work to start in 1963 on Highway 4 through Franklin Canyon, south of Martinez, and east to Willow Pass Road was asked.

Construction of Highway 21 south from Danville to the county line was recommended. Construction of the freeway from Walnut Creek as far as Danville is already slated to start this year.

CONSTRUCTION was asked for the freeway from Solano Way in Concord north to Highway 4. Freeway from Pleasant Hill to Solano Way will start this year.

The Highway Advisory Committee is made up of representatives of cities, chambers of commerce, neighborhood organizations and other groups in the county.

The group also made a list of recommended priorities for county roads to be built with city-county thoroughfare funds.

TOP OF THE list was given to the widening of Taylor Boulevard in Pleasant Hill to four lanes. Plans are already underway to start the project.

Position number two was given to the widening of Ygnacio Valley Road from Civic Drive to Homestead in Walnut Creek, an estimated $170,000 project.

$3 Million Project Illegal?

Claiming the county is violating the state constitution, Anthony Lagiss of Lafayette has filed a taxpayer's suit against Contra Costa to block construction of the $3.25 million administration building in Martinez.

The suit was filed yesterday in Superior Court in Martinez by Cushing, Cullinan, Hancock and Rothert, a San Francisco law firm.

The board of supervisors, the county retirement board, Public Works Director Victor Sauer and County Administrator J. P. McBrien were notified of Lagiss' feelings in a letter from Harlow P. Rothert, acting for the law firm mailed Tuesday.

THE SUIT calls for the county to comply with the require-

McCunn Confirms Possible Loss Of $1 Million

The question of whether the Contra Costa Junior College District is in danger of losing some $1 million in state aid-to-education will be on the agenda of the next board of governors meeting, May 14 at the Contra Costa campus.

The matter was placed on the agenda at Monday's board meeting after Board President William Kretzmer asked Superintendent Drummond McCunn about McCunn's statement printed in The Sun April 13.

McCunn told The Sun that the failure of some courses and texts to meet the requirements of the state education code might bring about enforcement of the penalty provisions of the state education code.

THIS INCLUDES dismissal of a district superintendent, administrators and even teachers, according to the code provisions.

At the Monday meeting at Diablo Valley College, Kretzmer asked McCunn about McCunn's statement that he had been placed "under wraps" by the board.

"You were quoted as saying you were placed under wraps. This isn't true," said Kretzmer. McCunn replied, "I was placed under wraps on February 12 when I was told by this board not to make any further speeches."

KRETZMER, referring to a February 12 executive session, said, "You were told to use discretion in what you said publicly. We did not place a limitation on your right of free speech."

Kretzmer also said he was "appalled" by McCunn's statement in The Sun to the effect that the use of certain books in certain courses, including social science 110 and 111, also some history and government courses, were in violation of the state education code, and there is danger of losing $1 million in state aid next year.

McCunn said he was prepared to speak on the matter at that time, adding that there was "misrepresentation" in The Sun article.

After being sworn in, Sawyer said: "It's a challenge and I'll do my best to try and do my share."

Other board members are Dr. Leonard Morgenstern, Robert Amber, Al Haskell and Collings. Also present at the meeting were William Knight, superintendent of the Moraga Valley Community Club, and was formerly a director of the Orinda Association.

At that time, the voters of Contra Costa County overwhelmingly turned down Bond Measure D which called for a $1 million bond for the purpose of constructing an addition to the Contra Costa County Administration Building at Martinez.

The vote was 76,546 to 46,579 against the measure. The county needed a two-thirds majority of "yes" votes for the measure to pass.

Assn. Set for Action on Center

Panel Discusses Plan For Land at Meeting

"Is a community center on Orinda Association land worth fighting for?" Moderator Harry Fledderman asked of his panel near the conclusion of their off-the-cuff discussion of the use of the association's ten acres of land on Camino Pablo, near the crossroads.

The history of the land since its purchase by the association 15 years ago to its future potential were reviewed by the panel of civic-minded Orindans at the association's annual meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the Orinda School library.

FLEDDERMAN is a member of the association board and acting chairman of the land use committee. The panel was composed of architect James Rector Lucas; Orinda Beautification Chairman Mrs. Paul Pollazcek; and Oakland Parks Director William Penn Mott.

An audience of an estimated 100 seemed to agree with the panel that it would be well worth the effort and expense required to establish a civic center on the land. They felt it should offer facilities for clubs, art, music, garden—a cultural center for young and old.

Mott gave a summary of the history of the land since it was purchased in the fall of 1947 until today. He said that it was bought for $27,000 raised through community effort. This was not done by the association, although it was a sponsor. Mott cited the many plans which had been made for the land since it was located where a portion of the school and Orinda Community Church now stand.

LUCAS TOLD of the expense in installing roads and utilities on the property. "It's a very usable piece of land," he concluded.

"We want something we can call our own," Mrs. Pollazcek said. "We shouldn't stand still any longer."

The association's option to buy an adjacent 64-acre parcel of land for $21,840 will expire in May, 1963, according to Fledderman. It is owned by the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

The Bay Area Rapid Transit favors this land for a parking area. They are also interested in about one-third of the association's land.

MOTT STATED that first the association must determine what the community wants in their center at this time; and a professional planner should conduct a public survey to determine this.

When the discussion went to the floor, Odie Monahan, a professional fund raising consultant, said that he would help with the survey. He cited examples of how other community projects were supported and maintained without adding to the tax burden.

Eric Nielsen, president of the association, presented the past president, Bruce Howard, with a silver tray on behalf of the board. The gift, Nielsen said, was a token of appreciation for Howard's years of community service.

Plan F Will Be Discussed Wednesday

Reports on "Plan F" to create two districts having both high schools and elementary schools will be reviewed at a public meeting to be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Acalanes High School library.

"Plan F" would unite all elementary and high schools in the Orinda, Moraga and Canyon districts into one district and also would unite all schools in the Lafayette and Walnut Creek districts into a single district.

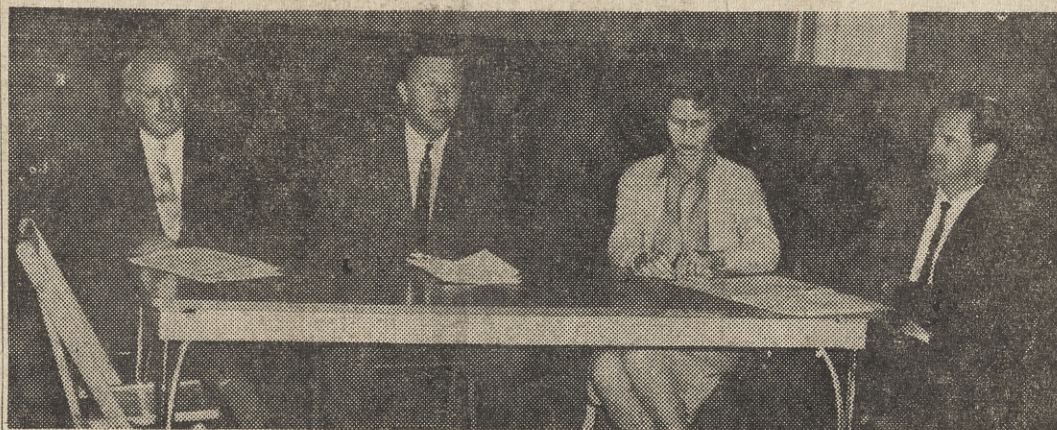

A county augmented committee has previously recommended "total unification" but two groups have been campaigning for the double unification plan.

Candidates Night Will Be May 23

The always-exciting Sun Candidates Night will be held May 23 at 8 p.m. in Acalanes High School gymnasium.

Candidates for county, assembly and congressional offices will speak, and answer questions.

The county and assembly candidates will be elected June 5, and the primaries for congressional offices will also be held June 5.

Ted Sawyer Is Named New Moraga Trustee

At a regular meeting at the Donald L. Rheem School Wednesday night, the Moraga School Board by a unanimous vote appointed Frederic A. Sawyer as a trustee. He will fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Donald Falconer.

Sawyer, called "Ted" by friends, is an attorney associated with the San Francisco firm of McCutchen, Doyle, Brown and Enersen. He will serve a term ending June 30, 1963. Sawyer, who is 35, was born in Oakland and educated in Alameda public schools. He received his undergraduate and professional education at the University of California in Berkeley.

HE IS A member of Phi Beta Kappa, as well as Order of the Coif, national legal honor society. He served in the Navy during the Korean incident, being released with the rank of lieutenant junior grade.

Sawyer, a Moraga resident since 1956, resides at 115 Daeger Drive with his wife, Liane, and three children, Denise, Frederic and William. He has been active on the civic affairs committee of the Moraga Valley Community Club, and was formerly a director of the Orinda Association.

After being sworn in, Sawyer said: "It's a challenge and I'll do my best to try and do my share."

Other board members are Dr. Leonard Morgenstern, Robert Amber, Al Haskell and Collings. Also present at the meeting were William Knight, superintendent of the Moraga Valley Community Club, and was formerly a director of the Orinda Association.

Open House for Our Schools This Week

Next week, the Orinda Union School District will observe Public Schools Week. J. L. Sheaff, district superintendent, expects nearly 100 per cent participation by parents of students in the district. Friends, relatives and neighbors are also invited.

The dates and time for Open House at each of Orinda's schools is as follows:

TUESDAY, 7:30 to 9 p.m.—Inland Valley Intermediate and Pine Grove Schools.

WEDNESDAY, 7:30 to 9 p.m.—Dal Roy, Glorietta, Inland Valley, Sleepy Hollow and Orinda Schools.

Sheaff stresses the fact that open-house is not the time for personal conferences. Appointments for these should be made through a personal note or through the school secretary, he said.

"We are proud of the progress that the children in this community have made and we encourage Orindans to visit the schools to examine the work on display," Sheaff said.

Although no special program has been planned, classrooms have been decorated. There will be a folder on the desk of each child. It will contain the culmination of his year's work.

Where's the Fire?

The Orinda Fire Department recently treated a Hayward child for snake bite. He was bitten while playing in the Pine Grove School area.

The department answered the following calls this week:

SUNDAY—12:27 p.m., Orinda Way and Irwin Way, auto accident; 1:58 p.m., Ichabod Court, garage fire; 3:16 p.m., Vida Descensada, gas odor.

TUESDAY—9:38 a.m., Overhill Road, dishwasher fire.

WEDNESDAY—11:27 a.m., Via Floreana, investigation.

THURSDAY—2:10 a.m., Rheem Boulevard near Carolyn Court, automobile accident, first aid; 9:39 a.m., Los Dedos, grass fire.

He has been married for 17 years to Mary Jean Fahrney and has three children.

Robert Rapida, The Sun's advertising director, will now devote his time entirely to the display advertising department.

Teachers Convened

Quentin Durham, 148 El Toyonal Road, and Eleanor Haefer, 32 Hillcrest Drive, both of Orinda, attended conference last weekend at Asilomar on the Monterey Peninsula.

Fahrney New Want Ad Boss For the Suns

Charles Fahrney Jr. has been named manager of the classified advertising department of The Sun newspapers in an announcement today by Publisher Herman Silverman.

Fahrney has had seven years' experience in this facet of newspaper work, coming to The Sun from the Ontario, Calif., Daily Report. He began his career in his home town of Elyria, Ohio, with the Chronicle-Telegram.

A veteran of three years' navy service, Fahrney spent 10 years as an equipment specialist with International Business Machines in the Midwest.

He has been married for 17 years to Mary Jean Fahrney and has three children.

Robert Rapida, The Sun's advertising director, will now devote his time entirely to the display advertising department.

Board Sets Date for G&L

The board of supervisors set a date for the public hearing of the G & L Investment Corporation's request to rezone 365 acres of property in the Happy Valley-Sleepy Hollow area. The board met in the Hall of Records Building, Martinez, last week.

At 2 p.m., the board set the public hearing date as May 22, at 2:15 p.m.

The parcel of land at the northeasterly end of Lombardy Lane, Orinda, continues to Happy Valley Road. The G & L Investment Corporation, owners of the property, seek to rezone it from general agricultural to single family residential.

Civic groups have expressed concern over the stress the development would put on schools, roads and sewers.

Transit Plan Gets Support From Two Sides

Rapid transit got a boost from two directions the middle of this week when Governor Brown warned that the alternative would be a spiderweb of freeways and Clair W. MacLeod, a director, spoke in behalf of the Bay Area program before a house subcommittee.

The governor said, in Sacramento, that possibly as many as 90 freeways would be necessary to accomplish the flow of traffic that would be provided by creation of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

MacLeod, in Washington, told the congressional group that BARTD "vigorously and enthusiastically" supports President Kennedy's proposed $500 million three-year program to help develop mass transportation systems.

Hats Off To...

Florence Scott, Velma Flannagan, Evelyn Yost

THREE BOUQUETS of prize-winning roses, please, for Mrs. Arthur (Velma) Flannagan, Mrs. Harold (Florence) Scott and Mrs. Marvin (Evelyn) Yost, who as newcomers to Orinda four years ago, helped launch the much-needed and very successful Newcomers Club for people new to this area.

Actually, according to the ladies, it was Jane Gannon and Fran Bishop, now living in the East and Pacific Palisades respectively, who, over a cup of coffee together, brainstormed the idea and put it into action with a coffee party to which all newcomers were invited. The aforementioned trio have been mainstays of the social group ever since, Florence serving as president 1957-58, Velma from 1958-59 and the very capable Evelyn always eschewing the gavel-wielding job for a wide variety of other offices, including secretary and publicity chairman and a service to each of the sections which include something of interest for everybody—Bridge, Garden, Bowling, Canasta, Golf and Gourmet, take your pick!

CHARTER MEMBER Florence, a native Oaklander, refers to herself as a sort of Mrs. Mitty with all manner of interests that include gardening, drama, dancing, ballet and four sons that kept and are still keeping her busy—Lee, 26, Ronald, 24, Danny, 22, and Stephen, 13. She is a member of the Berkeley Women's City Club and still very active in the Newcomers Club which now boasts a membership near the number 175. She and her designer-builder husband and son Stephen live in the home they built on Sunrise Hill; three acres flourishing with oaks, abounding with nature, and a handsome new pool.

OF THE THREE remaining members of the Newcomers' first eighteen charter signers, Velma Flannagan is still an energetic participant and anxious to publicize the club to prospective joiners. The native Iowan and her Canadian-born husband Arthur K. (Ken) Flannagan transferred here from Park Ridge, Illinois four years ago and immediately plunged into community activity.

Ken, who is executive director of the Easter Seal Society of Alameda County, served as president of Inland Valley Elementary School Parents' Club last year where daughter Kerry Lynn, 12, is now in sixth grade. Velma, who's happiest "inside or out if it's bridge or gardening," is an active Girl Scout mother, corresponding secretary of the Orinda Woman's Club and a devoted worker for the new mission for St. Giles Episcopalian Church.

COMPLETING the trio that took the loneliness out of newcomers and helped promote fun and friendship in its place is Evelyn Yost, busy mother of three youngsters, Bob, 16, Steve, 14, and Mary, 12. The family moved here from Milford, Oregon to settle in a new home on Hall Drive. Her husband Marvin is a regional manager for Montgomery Ward. The San Francisco born and bred Evelyn is an active volunteer for the Easter Seals, the better to seal her friendship with Velma Flannagan (one of her closest) that got its start when both Newcomers turned up on the threshold for that very first Coffee.

For interested newcomers, the above ladies are anxious you contact the current president, Mrs. Oliver (Peg) Granucci at CL 4-8521. The group's members and activities will waste no time making you feel right at home!

Miramonte Mirror

Sand, Snow Beckoned Million Miramonteens

By ANN LINCOLN AND KITTY MIKA

Orinda was a pretty unlively little town during the Easter week due to the absence of many liberated Miramonte teens. It seems that both sand and snow seemed to be the main attractions.

Carmel dragged teens by the millions. Carol Gilmore, Dede Davis and Carol Troy hardly recognized Grigg DeWitt, Brad Peter and Mike McQuaid coming down to the beach with their "racy-looking" shades donned. As Bonnie Kent, Jackie Villata and Jackie Edenhelm whizzed into Carmel the first people they happened to see were Johnny Cooper, John McIntyre and Keith St. Claire. Dan Winthers, Paul McChesney and the Nattress sisters, Karen and Sue, came down to soak up the sun for a day. Sophs Nancy Snover and Fran Obrecht came back from Carmel brown as berries as did Kathy Adams and Karen Bentley.

Squaw Valley slopes were monopolized by Miramonte's ski champs (?). Some of the mentionables were Steve Baker, Brad Harlan, Roger McCosker, Doug Rasmussen, Skip Spaich, Greg Peterson, Roger Howard, Dick Sutcliffe, Doug Knudsen and Allison Hanford.

Barry Yager had a party Thursday night. Some of the people there were Pat Campbell, Steve Brush and Mary Bartlett, Jay Grilli and Sherry Wallace, Gary McCosker and Chris Campbell, Bill Cooper and Chrissy Voll, Doug Dermitt and Karen Nattress, Ron Maccario and Ann White.

Wendy Wilcox and Jo-an Scholberg went job-hunting in San Francisco but just didn't "luck-out." Neither did all the people in the city... Wendy had the measles.

A few Miramonteens to be truly envied are Rick and Lynn Merriam, Ron and Hap Parks, Mimi McGah and Bill Lincoln. They took off for the Easter week to enjoy the warm waters of Waikiki and Honolulu hulu dancers.

A party was held at Denny Lucas' house Saturday night. Some of those attending were Sue Creagline, Marty Spittler, Georgia Glacy, Bill Powell, Lana Barker, Jackie Villata, Skip Spaich, Sue Wagner, Bill Utt, Claudia Powell, Steve Hasse, and many more.

Fallout Shelter Contract Inked In Defense Plan

Civil defense took an important stride forward in this area recently when county officials signed the first contract with a private owner to establish his building as a recognized fall-out shelter.

With much ceremony, G. A. Horstkotte put his signature on an agreement to make the Central Contra Costa County Sanitary District Treatment Plant available for civil defense purposes.

Supervisors Tom Coll and J. M. McBrien, county administrator, put their names on the agreement which was then ratified by Will H. Perr, area civil defense director.

Under this action the building on Highway 4 becomes the first link in a shelter program which will embrace 120 other structures before it is completed. Fifty of these fallout shelters will be located in unincorporated portions of the county.

Next step in the program after all approved shelter areas have been signed up is to make any minor structural changes necessary, stock them with emergency supplies and mark them so the public can find them in event of a disaster.

Neldam Heads Retail Bakers

Jack Neldam, 9 Corte Holganza, Orinda, left yesterday for Philadelphia to be installed as the youngest national president in the history of the Associated Retail Bakers of America.

Neldam is a member of the family who own Neldam Danish Bakeries in Rheem Center and Oakland. The Oakland store was started 35 years ago.

Neldam, his wife and son reside at 9 Corte Holganza, Orinda. Traveling to Philadelphia with the Neldams is Jackie Reckas, 10-year-old daughter of N. P. Reckas, owner of Hi-Fashion Fabrics, Hough Avenue, Lafayette.

Jackie has been named "Little Miss Muffin" to represent the Bay Area retail bakers in competition for the national title. She was selected from a bevy of little "goodies" in a contest held recently in San Francisco under the sponsorship of the Bay Area Retail Bakers Association.

Alana Bowers, also 10, of 112 Turk Drive, Moraga, was selected to represent the East Bay in local activities for the bakers throughout the coming year.

Judges in the contest stated that both girls were selected because they best typify "wholesomeness, naturalness, freshness and pleasantness—the important ingredients in good baking."

Rheem Center Hunt Draws Large Crowd

Several hundred children and their parents turned out for the annual egg hunt sponsored by the Moraga Lions Club and the Moraga Parents Club in conjunction with the Rheem Center merchants at Rheem Center Saturday morning.

Winners in the boys' 8-10-year category were Roger Harlow, first; Steve Canale, Girls, 8-10, Sue Mantell and Carol Pricer. Boys 6-7, Bob Howard and Bobby Pervis. Girls 6-7, Kathleen Gilliland and Kathy Butler. Boys 4-5, Marty Luce and Craig Humphrey. Girls 4-5, Chris Sir and Carol Mitchell. Girls up to 3, Cathy Dunn and Lisa McCarty. Boys up to 3, Glenn Gratz and Mark Putnam.

Rheem merchants who participated in the event included: Safeway; T&D Liquors; Center Hardware; Neldams; Charles Drugs; Rheem Barber Shop; Silver Shear; Edwards Cleaners; Moraga Casuals; Design Center; Jo-Ev Variety; Gimbo's; Moraga Bootery; Mason Mc Duffie; Rheem Theater; Ray Devin, Realtor; King Nursery; Carroll Country Club; Shell; Union and Texaco gas stations; Rheem Bowl and T-Bones.

In releasing the plans, High of Lafayette, made it quite clear that no commitments have yet been made.

A site has not been purchased and it will take considerable community interest for the plans to be carried out.

Financing of the project probably would come from family and teams desiring to use the facility. However, no concrete plan has been devised as yet.

HIGH SAID membership would mainly be by family. However, swim team memberships would be available to a number of local organized groups.

High has divided the pool completion into five phases. The first phase would cost $132,000. It would include the large pool ($100,000), decking, showers and dressing rooms, fencing and a parking lot.

Family of the Week

MACKINLAIS ALL
Baby Bobbie in Ann's (Cricket) arms. Father Ian, right.

Burstin' Their Buttons

DURING THE recent Charter Day ceremonies in Berkeley, the whole family of Architect Ian Mackinlay were bursting their buttons. For it was their children's grandfather and Mrs. Mackinlay's father, Edward Strong, who was inaugurated as Chancellor of the University of California.

Son Jock, aged 9, christened a bout of measles the morning of Charter Day, so he was unable to attend with his father and father, but daughter Kaki, 8½, went along with her parents to represent the junior side of the family which also includes Bruce, 6; Clifton 4, and the baby, Robbie, 9 months.

THE FAMILY was photographed in their Las Vegas Road home against a western landscape painted in oil by Mrs. Mackinlay's uncle, Ray Strong, a well-known California artist. The 15 feet by 8 feet wall mural depicts a scene near Pacheco Pass. It is a real conversation piece in their contemporary home.

Architect Mackinlay, who has offices in Orinda and Lafayette, has designed and built a large number of homes in the area. With wife, Cricket, (that's Ann's nickname), he built their own home hillside home. It is a two-story redwood with the innovation of the children's bedrooms downstairs and rooms opening onto the play hillside.

WHEN ASKED if a 60 foot long rope swing suspended from a sturdy oak limb is the envy of the neighborhood children, Cricket laughed—“It's not the ENVY, it IS the neighborhood's swing!” Their home, incidentally, was a house feature of the Chronicle's Bonanza section last year.

The young Berkeley-bred mother attended Bentley, studied at Stanford and then switched to US where she received her degree, as did her native San Franciscan husband.

Diablo Art Association Plans Show

Diablo Art Association's annual Spring Art Show will be held the first three days of June at the Walnut Creek Recreation Center it was announced this week by Mrs. Lida Lawson, exhibit chairman.

The show will be for members only and non-members are urged to join and take advantage of the exhibition opportunities.

In conjunction with the regular exhibit of paintings, mosaics and allied arts which will be judged by popular vote, there will be a "Familiar Scene" competition featuring paintings in all media of a scene in the vicinity of Orinda, Danville, Diablo, San Ramon, Walnut Creek, Pacheco and Concord.

Prizes will be $50, $30 and $20 and also two honorable mention ribbons.

Another interesting and entertaining feature of the weekend will be a Clothesline Show where matted water-colors and unframed oils and others will be offered for sale at nominal prices.

ers; Moraga Casuals; Design Center; Jo-Ev Variety; Gimbo's; Moraga Bootery; Mason Mc Duffie; Rheem Theater; Ray Devin, Realtor; King Nursery; Carroll Country Club; Shell; Union and Texaco gas stations; Rheem Bowl and T-Bones.

Phase two would cost $15,000 and include a 50-foot pool, wading pool and play area.

The third phase would expand the showers and dressing rooms and extend the parking lot. Cost is estimated at $9500.

OFFICES and multi-purpose room would cost $21,000 in phase four.

Seifert Daughter Injured at Tahoe

Miss Dana Seifert was injured in a ski accident recently at Grannilbakken ski resort, Lake Tahoe.

Dana is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Seifert, 39 Camino Encinas, Orinda.

The degree will be put on by Las Trampas DeMolay chapter. For further information call 254-8560, 254-3592, 254-4820 and 254-2794.

THE advisory council of the newly proposed DeMolay chapter in Orinda were hosts at a dinner meeting recently at the Orinda Masonic Temple. Fifty-two boys, their fathers, and guests attended.

Guest speakers were William Connelly, DeMolay district supervisor; Frank Botts, East Bay DeMolay membership chairman, and Bob Lucas, master counselor of Las Trampas DeMolay chapter, Walnut Creek.

Don Connelly of Las Trampas DeMolay spoke briefly on awards. Charles H. Cunningham, worshipful master of Orinda Lodge, welcomed those present. The Orinda Lodge is sponsoring the body of Orinda DeMolay chapter.

Hardboiled Eggs and Scrambled Children...

MOST OF THE Natives agreed it was the most gorgeous Easter Sunday ever... The cabbage roses were climbing the garage wall as well as the ladies' new hats, most of the children managed to behave well, even beautifully, in church, & Easter hams for the festive family dinners were downright tender.

There are eggshells at the bottom of my sofa still & green paper grass growing from the floors all over the house. The children got up at dawn, just like Christmas, to see what the Easter Bunny had left them, but didn't cheat or sneak a one till after church & breakfast.

THE EASTER BUNNY falls in the same class w/Santa Claus & beware of anyone who doesn't believe in both of 'em....

THE SUNDAY traffic flow was slow & frustrating so instead of casing cars for out-state licenses, the children counted the Easter bonnets, most of which looked like blooming oversize begonias. One lady of the Helen Hokinson variety, whose driving must certainly have been hampered by her voluminous petaled hat & her voluminous mink, rode snootily past in her long sleek Cadillac w/her long sleek setter pointing halfway out the window in hunter stance. It made us very nervous.

In another car, we spotted a pampered poodle wearing a hat to match Mama's & still another grey miniature dandy sporting a collar of daisies. Some doozies! We're just Going To The Dogs!

Boys were brushed & combed & polished & the little girls were mostly brimmed in beribboned white straws... Down on the Country Club green, the tots & younger children bloomed forth from the grassy field where they searched their eggs & spoon & sack-raced till their parents were ready to drop.

Gordon Martin was overheard to announce that any child finding golf balls would please turn them over to PanAmSteel's Gerry Pixley. Who did alright by THAT!

Pixley's dutiful cutiful Dukey copped a prize for the most eggs in the 7-8 group. She turned up about 25 eggs PLUS eight golf balls which she immediately transferred to her father's pockets.

Young Pam Pixley still bore sunburn from simmering on the beach at Carmel where the Pixleys spent a portion of Easter Week w/a stay at The Jade Tree.

A LOT OF OTHERS had the same locale in mind for an Easter Week Get-Away... We bunked w/our brood at Asilomar (love that spot!) & practically had the whole conference grounds to ourselves. We were out wading the white sanddunes w/Baby early morning, biking w/boys, horsebackriding w/daughter & of course, the inevitable store-browsing & constant eating out that goes w/youngsters along on a trip.

On the corner by Robert Kirk, Ltd., we chatted w/Lois Heywood & dgthr. Gail who were down for a few days... In the Plaza by Sambo's pancake place, Helen & Bert Kohler & dgthr. Terry who looked pleased as Punch w/a red & white Lanz dress box tucked tightly under her arm. We inquired about shopping w/& for Terry & father Bert rolled his eyes w/a benign smile—"We've been at LANZ since NINE this morning..." That's what daughters are for, of course, & off we hied for a new hat for Megan.

By the Mediterranean Delicatessen, one of our favorite food browsing & inevitable buying, spots, we bumped into Nina & John Almond who were staying in town & expecting a wknd. visit from their boys.

In My Merry Oldsmobile...

IT WAS A splendiferous day for the annual Concours d'Elegance at Pebble Beach & as one jaunty-looking gent remarked—"I'd rather look at a gorgeous Rolls Royce than a gorgeous blonde anytime."

The setting, w/regal classic cars studding the lawns across Del Monte Lodge, was sumptuous... Not a cloud in the damer-blue sky, only a slight stir of salt breeze from the ocean, & lazy white-capped waves lolling into shore.

THE MEN & THE BOYS were in their element, studying from stem to stern the classy vintage autos to the very latest. One spectator's sassy chassis was a potpourri of parts of every car imaginable, a darling of a black shiny Model T body, piped in brass trim w/rear plastic windows in harlequin shape. The red leather interior was very Victorian accessorized to the hilt & showed that somebody had put more love, but maybe as much money, into refurbishing this choice relic.

David Francis Costa, Jr. of Orinda copped honors in the European Sports Cars (over 7000 bucks, that is) w/his 1961 Mercedes-Benz 300 SL, a beaut & judging from the program, was the only local entry.

At the Del Monte Lodge watering spa, we saw Lance Barden, Orinda collector & connoisseur of antique cars... He & Dorothy, down in that area, although he had no entry, couldn't pass up the chance to see what other car fanciers were doing these days.

AT THE PAGODA-shaped refreshment stand, spotted John Lathan & Miramonte friends who did some beachcombing earlier in the day.

BABY ERIN who took it all in her stride as well as her rusty vintage stroller, was the hit of the afternoon & was nominated for a Blue Ribbon for her classic charm. (Stop, that's bragging!) Used to a flute, clarinet & piano in her own household, her eyes fairly popped at the sight & sound of the strolling Mexican string instrumentalists... still another touch to a very wondrous afternoon.

AROUND TOWN: Betty Bell & her Three have made the move to Lafayette where Betty, having bought a duplex, will assume the role of landlady. The former Orinda Park Pool gal & a strong right arm of the Pine Grove cafeteria has a bark much worse than her bite, a most contagious laugh & an infectious sense of wry humor, which are necessary requisites for her new role as duplex owner. She'll be back often, she says, especially this summer when she'll loll on the Park Pool lawn & let out a hearty guffaw in good friend Peg Kirby's direction.

Rozella Black, a former society scribe w/the Honolulu Star Bulletin, has joined the ranks of real estate ladies & will hang her keys at the Lafayette offices of Hammond & Co., Maudie & Matt, that is.

THE DON ZAPPETINIS let Easter Sunday go by but except their new chick in the nest ANY day!

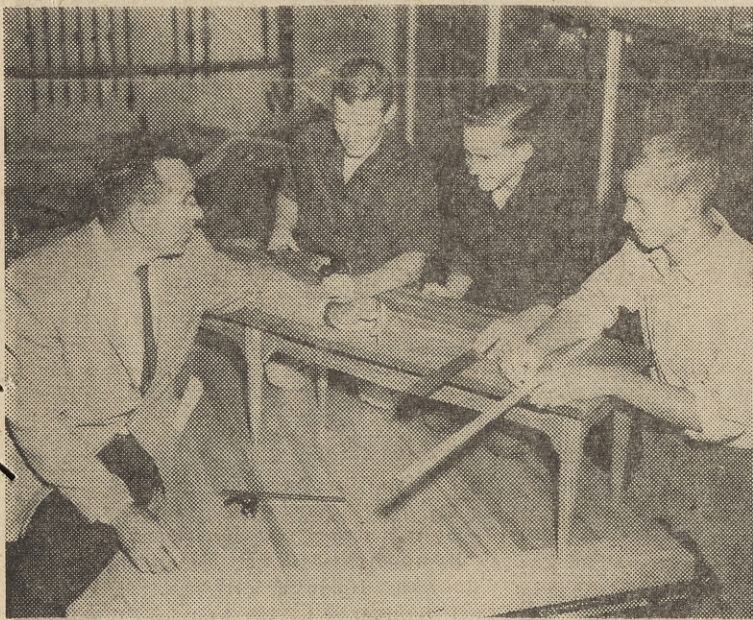

Eva Parker, by the way, hosted a little party in honor of Harper (Nana) Wright last Monday afternoon. She is the darling mother of the revered Mary Dorr who returns here from her Malibu home May 11 for a Linden Jr. book review tea to be given in her former home, now occupied by Philip & Marge Bush.

HEADING for the Parker's Rose Lane Cottage for picture-taking another day, were Chris Lang, Thelma Harney, Sylvia Cox & the hostess who posed pretty for Black & White Symphony Ball publicity. Which is tonight & they're going in a crowd!

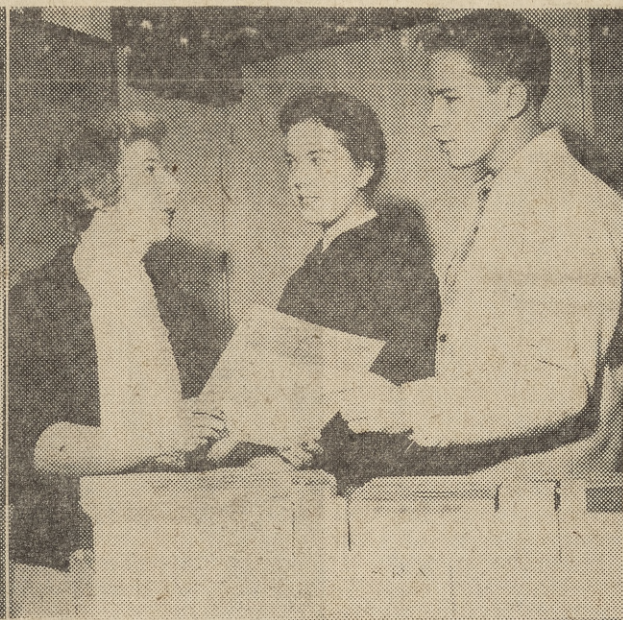

Now that Easter Sunday's over, I guess Dentist Gene Garbarino's "gang" will have to wait a long time till their next windfall of candy, but who cares? All the Garbarino boys and girls will undoubtedly grow up to have gorgeous white teeth like their Mother Joan, whose smile is one of the prettiest anyplace.

BUT ANYWAY, there Big As Life in Lucky's last Monday sat Jeannette Boersma, the Dentist's nice nurse, looking very self-conscious about selling Girl Scout cookies at the GS booth. Like most good dentists, Dr. G. does not approve of cookies. Not even Girl Scout Cookies. No, not even HOMEMADE cookies! They all do the same damage, says he, if you use sugar. Now we'll all adjourn to brush our teeth for the next five minutes!

George & Doris Clifford are again to be the instructors of this important phase of the social manners of your young people, it says, unquote. It seems what we REALLY need is someone to give the ADULTS a few instructions in basic good manners.

Acalanes H. S. District Holds Open House

High schools of the Acalanes Union High School District are observing Public Schools Week with special evening programs at each of the schools.

Del Valle students opened up the festivities last night and drew a good sized crowd of visitors who inspected the buildings and their classrooms.

Both Acalanes and Miramonte will hold open house Monday night, while Las Lomas will wind-up the week's activities on Thursday night.

Special programs and open house showings will highlight each school's participation in Public Schools Week which runs from Monday through Friday. Programs at the school begin at 8 p.m. Public Schools Week observation finds the Acalanes Union High School District well into its 22nd year of operation. The district serves the communities and elementary districts of Canyon, Lafayette, Moraga, Orinda and Walnut Creek.

ACALANES HIGH, the district's first school opened in 1940 with an enrollment of under 400 students. The school was situated in a former tomato patch alongside Pleasant Hill Road, Lafayette. Fourteen teachers staffed Acalanes High that first year.

Since 1945, the district's growth and curriculum progression has been rapid but orderly, headed by Superintendent Neil M. Parsons, who served as principal-superintendent at Acalanes High from 1945 to 1951, when he took on the single role of superintendent. Las Lomas High opened in 1951 with 145 students.

Today Las Lomas still serves the Walnut Creek area with 1250 students enrolled. Miramonte High started with 175 students in 1955; today it has 1330 pupils from Canyon, Moraga, Orinda. Del Valle High, which opened in 1959 with 160 youngsters, now enrolls 775 from the Walnut Creek-Lafayette area.

The district's fifth high school, Campolindo, opens in September with an enrollment of 185 pupils from Canyon, Moraga, Orinda and Lafayette. Acalanes High, the original district plant, has 1320 students from Lafayette.

The same "build-as-you-grow" program that was initiated with Las Lomas High is employed now. Each year as a starting ninth grade class moves on to the next grade, a new group steps in behind it.

After three years the school has its senior class and a four-year curriculum. Construction keeps just ahead of the enrollment demand.

REFLECTING on the growth of the district during his superintendency and prior to that since 1939 when it was first organized, Parsons points out that planning buildings for rapid enrollment growth has been just one aspect of the "continuing effort to give local high school students the best opportunity we can provide for a good secondary education."

"The high school buildings themselves aren't much unless you've also developed a comprehensive curriculum and a competent faculty to serve the school program and insure an element of quality."

Parsons explained that the "district currently offers a comprehensive secondary curriculum that runs the full gamut of student interests."

"The curriculum includes general education courses in business and commercial subjects, industrial arts and crafts, home economics, music, art and physical education; as well as a strong academic program covering math, science, social studies, foreign languages and English."

In all, an average of more than 130 different courses are part of the high school curriculum.

ASSISTANT superintendent for education, Leland Russell, points out that one of the best indices of the effectiveness of the school program over the past 22 years is the history of district graduates who have enjoyed success in both professional and vocational pursuits.

Results of periodic national standardized tests given to students in the district show that Acalanes District students are averaging in the top 25 per cent of the nation's high school enrollment in achievement in the major subject areas.

Special courses and offerings for the most able students and for students with learning problems as well as an effective program for those in the middle academically are part of the district's endeavor to meet as best we can the wide range of abilities and interests that can be found among 4,700 high school students.

"DESPITE THE pressures of growth, curriculum development and successful procurement of first-rate teachers, the Acalanes District has in the past had one of the consistently lowest per pupil expenditures for high school districts in Contra Costa," according to the annual reports of the county schools office.

The district is operating on a current tax rate of $1.656. The tax limit approved by voters in 1954 is $1.75. Major construction at Del Valle High School and Campolindo High, a new gym at Acalanes and additions and modifications at each of the other district school plants represents over $1 million now under contract.

Cancer Drive at Climax

House-to-house canvassing will be held this weekend and Monday by volunteers of the American Cancer Society, which is concluding its annual "cancer facts" and fund-raising drive in the central county.

Contra Costa County Branch members hope to visit the tens of thousands of homes in the area, leaving informational pamphlets and asking for funds to aid medical research.

John Cooley, county campaign chairman, called on Contra Costans to read carefully the leaflets.

"ONE IN two persons instead of one in three could be saved from cancer with present methods of treatment, if they are alerted in time," he said.

"Many people have asked me just what they can expect in value from their contribution, when deciding how much to give to the cancer campaign," Cooley said. The following is a guide:

"One dozen tissue culture tubes cost one dollar. Five dollars will buy 4000 'Cancer Danger' leaflets containing life-saving information for free distribution."

"Ten dollars will buy an instrument sterilizer. Twenty dollars, a mouth rebreathing apparatus."

"Fifty dollars will pay for an eye piece micrometer for exact measurement of living cells."

"Seventy dollars will buy a blood cell calculator, used in studies of leukemia, the child-killer."

"And, $100 will pay one week's salary for an advanced research technician," Cooley stated.

"It takes $750 to pay for 4200 milligrams of radioactive iodine for use in research; $6000 to study ways of producing natural antiserum designed to destroy cancer, and $70,000 for a grant to study the roles of hormones in growth, including the cause prevention and treatment of cancer," said Cooley.

HE SAID last year Contra Costa residents raised $78,634 and this year, with the tremendous need to boost promising research, Contra Costa hopes to gain $81,795.

Both mailing envelopes and cancer facts will be left for persons who are not at home when their American Cancer Society neighbor calls on them in Monday's drive, Cooley said.

The county chairman said that

Contra Costa women are invited to attend a luncheon and fashion show tomorrow at River View Lodge in Antioch. Starting at 12:30 p.m., the event will be open to the public and proceeds will go to the cancer society.

SAFETY BELTS are being boosted for all employees by the Contra Costa County Water District and Charles Gross demonstrates that he has installed four in his car. Looking on are Mrs. Reba Scarborough and Clarence Schmidt of the treated-water division.

District High School Pupils Zone Winners

Nine Acalanes Union High School District students have been selected as zone winners for achievement awards in their fields of interest. The nine were chosen by judges from other high school achievement award candidates from schools represented by the Acalanes, Mt. Diablo, San Ramon, and Liberty district high schools.

Achievement honors for students from Acalanes High School in Lafayette went to Boardman Moore, for his work in fine arts; Sidney Hillyer, for excellence in liberal arts; and Charlotte Annis, for competence in the vocational arts.

Las Lomas High School students in Walnut Creek who received zone achievement awards include Marsha Maguire, fine arts; Patricia McFeeley, vocational arts; and Terry Taylor, liberal arts.

Miramonte students from Orinda-Moraga receiving zone awards were Thomas Gunn, science and mathematics; and Carleen Sowles, vocational arts.

Each of the zone achievement award winners was chosen by a faculty committee at their respective high schools for the caliber of work performed in academic departments in which they had special interests. Students from the Acalanes district earned one third of the awards presented for their competition zone.

Road Right-of-Way Settlement Made

Approval for a settlement of $11,075 for acquisition by the county public works department of a right-of-way on Acalanes Road was granted by the board of supervisors this week.

Owners of the property, an area of 10,407 square feet, are Mr. and Mrs. Irwin D. Baker. On the land is a partially completed residence and a garage. Supervisors also approved of the department's plans and specifications for construction of 437,000 square feet of terminal apron.

Moraga Memo

By JANE PUTNAM

How Rheem Is My Valley

By JANE PUTNAM

THE HILLS are so green now—"hurlin' green" because they're so beautiful it hurts. All ready, they're starting to brown. Spring will not be a little late this year. It simply will not be.

We're in summer no matter what the calendar says. Whoever stole spring, please give her plenty of it until next year. We miss her. Brown hills. Daylight savings Sunday. Bah humbug!

PROGRESS SCMOGRESS. Walking along Moraga Road to Rheem Center this week, we mourned for the four friendly houses that are being (or have been) removed to make room for posh new apartments, posh new bank, posh new Posh Center.

The house that belonged to Bill House of Beauty McIlhinney is gone. It was formerly the Trinidad landmark. The windmill, of course, is gone, too. The tallest pines on the property are tied with orange cloth. We hope this means to spare them—afraid it means the opposite. The apartments, started this week, will be the Last Word. Seems that with so much newness all around us, it's too bad we can't hold onto the precious few remnants of the old that remain.

On the opposite side of the street, were three more "old-timer" houses: The first was razed in the fire department drill. The next wooden bungalow (formerly the home of Rheem post-mistress Williams) is on hoists to be moved down the road apiece. It will resettle on a corner of the Ray Devins' property with a happy future as a honeymoon house. The last house in the row to remain on its foundations, formerly the Harry Rohrsers', looks sad and lonely. That is because it is.

OLD MORAGA, stay as beat as you are. Would that you could. The old school (now not a school) . . . the old Post Office . . . the old fire station . . . the old Moraga Grocery . . . the old Barn (a bar with the 'n' added to attract city sippers) . . . how long will you untouched ones be with us? How long before the poshness is upon you?

AWAY FROM IT ALL. Ruth Salet and Jerry Tarpley, Girl Scout leaders tried and true, took their troop 23 on an "overnight" during Easter vacation that lasted from Tuesday till Friday. Girls attending were: Melanie Bowell, Carol Tarpley, Nikki Salet, Arlene Merritt, Kathy Miles, Alice Reif, Melissa Taylor, Beth McCampbell, Mary Terrell, Carolyn Hacker and little sister Elanée Tarpley. The skunk who invaded the girls' dorm was not invited.

Troop 23 earned the trip by giving a fashion show recently at Carroll Country Club. The girls modeled clothes by Kandi's of Lafayette. The Rheem merchants donated door prizes.

Another group of Moraga youngsters took an eight-day trip to Arizona, foot packing into Grand Canyon. Heading the group was top tour-master John Thune of the Y. He's the husband of lovely mail carrier Eva Thune.

Taking in the magnificent scenery were John Baits, Kitty and Joe Lynch, Suzie Pagliero, Linda, Becky and Mary Thune. (Mother Thune stayed at home. The mail must go through, you know).

COMMUNITY CLUB of Moraga Valley will meet Monday next instead of Monday last. President Charlie Wright invites all residents to attend the meeting in Rheem School's all-purpose room at 8 p.m.

The planning committee will report on their overall program for the club. William Beezley will speak on the Orinda-Moraga ambulance service. The station is moving from Moraga Road to Walnut Creek as Beezley is going to fill a vacancy there. The area will still have the service—from afar.

SCOFIELD DRIVE can settle back and relax now that the going-away parties are finis for two of their most popular residents. Dawn (former Parents' Club president) and Chris Christiansen left recently for Fort Worth, Texas, with sons Erik and Paul.

Former next-door neighbors, Mary and Dale Bradley, are leaving momentarily with son John, age 9, for Denver, Colorado. Their two older sons will remain to finish out the school term. Brad, a high school junior, will stay with the S. W. Tarpleys. Pat and Ruth Freitas, friendly-type teachers, will keep Steve Bradley until he graduates from the eighth grade.

Then over on Harold Drive, Brenda and George Bradley with menage and menagerie are getting ready to pull the "parting is such sweet sorrow" bit.

DATES to jot down on ye fast fleeting calendar: April 28—ladies' golf tourney, May 26—men's tourney, June 20—juniors' tourney, May 15—pool opens.

May 20 will be the seventh annual horse show given by the Moraga Horsemen's Association, Inc. Anyone who has ever attended this event knows that it is well worth the trip through Bolinger Canyon's scenic (if narrow) road.

For information regarding entries, contact the show secretary, C. William Lance, P.O. Box 12, Moraga. His phone is DR 6-4711.

This show has become so well organized that they've even set a rain date. Who says Moraga doesn't need a chamber of Commerce?

RETRACTION: I take back all of those nice things I said about rancher John Sanders last week. He gave us some "Mountain Oysters" without telling us that they were the leavings from a recent roundup operation other than branding. The day after I cooked and ate several helpings of the (oof!) fire chief Al Baits set me straight. Hey, they aren't bad with tartar sauce.

SICK LIST. Home from the hospital, to the relief of school board clerk Rex Collings is wife Marcella. Small, spunky Mrs. Collings checked into the hospital over Easter for minor surgery leaving Collings the major task of playing bunny and mother for the four little Collingses. We hear that Marcella is doing splendidly while her husband is a Rex. (Will you ever forgive me?)

Recuperating nicely from surgery in San Francisco is realtor Ray Devin.

CONGRATULATIONS are pouring in from everywhere on our column. Mom phoned from Oakland. Aunt Freda wrote from Alameda. And a chap named Herb, a competitor in the Chronicle, sent this note: "Hey, wonderful news about the column. Keep in there pitching, and be sure to send me the overset." This means in the jargon of we columnists that I send him the type that won't fit into this space.

Turnabout is fair play, I always say, so negotiations are now underway on a Caen-Jane Reciprocal Overset Agreement. Then if our column breaks off like this: "packing up and leaving her husband of 57 years is 'you can find it continued in Caen of the Chronicle."

Laf. Women Will Elect Officers Tuesday, 1 p.m.

Election of officers for the coming year will be on the agenda for the regular meeting of the Lafayette Women's Club, Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

The annual rummage sale will be held May 16 and 17 at 2555 Grove in Oakland.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How divine guidance aids man in his efforts to make spiritual progress will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The lesson-sermon entitled "Probation After Death" will include these words of the Psalmist: "As for God, His way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; He is a buckler to all those that trust in Him. . . . It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect" (Psalm 18).

This citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read (p. 324):

"The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness and death, either here or hereafter—certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God."

Christian Science churches are located at 3422 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette; 22 Orinda Way, Orinda; 2 Eckley Lane, Walnut Creek, and at the corner of Grant and Park streets, Concord.

UNITARIAN

"One Strike and We're All Out" will be the Sunday sermon topic of Reverend Aron S. Gilman at the Mt. Diablo Unitarian Church.

It is not baseball that is the concern here, but rather the first strike policy recently endorsed by President Kennedy.

Street Lights to Be Installed at Bad Intersection

The board of supervisors approved the public works department's request for safety lighting at Moraga Way and Glorietta Boulevard, Orinda. The board voted unanimously in favor of the lighting Tuesday morning at the Hall of Records Building, Martinez.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company will be authorized to install street lights on the northeast and southwest corners of Moraga Way and Glorietta Boulevard.

The board's decision was based on the findings of an engineering study. Four nighttime accidents have occurred at this intersection in the last six months. The lights each will be 10,000 Lumen incandescent.

The board's decision is in conformance with their policy for installation of safety lighting.

Acalanes Parents Elect Officers Monday Night

Joining the Acalanes High School in its "open house" for Public Schools Week will be the membership of the Acalanes Parents Club who will hold their monthly business meeting in the school gymnasium, Monday at 8 p.m.

According to Ted J. Clark, president, the meeting will be short, with the main business of the evening the election of new officers for next year.

Get Along Lil' Dogies

By LEE COMBS

Spring is the season for roundup time in suburbia.

There is heard the thunder of hoofs, the creak of leather and the wild yippee of the cowboy. The smell of smoking fires and scorched hide does not come from the backyard barbecue.

Dormant western blood, wakes and flows faster. The office-bound commuter, frightening traffic and crowded buses harks to the call of the wild.

The wide open spaces are minutes away. One need drive only a few miles in almost any direction to become part of the old West. There, the gas burner is exchanged for the hay burner and open, rolling hills, rangeland stretch as far as the eye can see.

THOUGH MANY suburbanites are unaware of it, numerous cattle ranches and thousands of acres of open range surround them. John Sanders, Moraga cattlemen, reports that he can still drive from Orinda to Danville and never leave the rangeland. Ranch houses attached to ranches almost touch swimming pools.

One raises the steaks while the other barbecues them. In many cases, neither is aware of the other's existence.

One of the round-ups held recently was that of Robert Shuey's 200 head, grazing on Kaiser land. Headquarters is the old Marsh Ranch with its 75-year-old ranch house and farm buildings. It is situated less than a mile from the Glorietta district of Orinda.

WHILE YOUNGSTERS sat, entranced, before their television sets viewing warmed over westerns, real cowboys—the good guys—roped and branded calves so the rustlers—the bad guys—would be foiled again.

Almost within sight of the TV antennas the old west was alive and calves were kicking. Only a few were there to observe it.

The Kolkhorst family of Orinda was represented. The Marne boys of Tilden were out in force, complete with roping horses. These aficionados are there as volunteer cowboys and assist just for the fun and thrill of being part of the roundup.

Neighboring assistance is still very much a part of life on the range. John Sanders was there when the Utah Construction Company cattle were branded recently at a corral just off St. Mary's Road.

Sanders didn't comment; but we wondered what he thought of the "new-fangled" contraption they were using. This machine eliminates the roping, throwing and tying of the calves.

It is called a "Squeeze" and it does just that.

Rheem Summer School Needs More Sign-ups

Moraga School District's summer school sign-up is still about 100 students below the enrollment figure needed to put on a full program.

At the present time 160 students have signed up. Last year the summer school enrollment was 50 per cent of the district's total enrollment. So far, this year the summer school enrollment is about 50 per cent of the district's total enrollment.

"We would like to encourage all students who can possibly sign up to do so. The summer school, with its varied courses, is a stimulating and enjoyable program," according to Robert Trask, principal of Camino Pablo School, where the program will be held.

IT DETRACTS from the romance but adds to the efficiency. To work the "Squeeze," the calves are run through a chute into what looks like a giant pressing machine. They are caught in this and squeezed.

The contraption then swings up and holds them in a sideways position. The cowboys are then able to dehorn, brand and vaccinate them without having to hold on to a struggling calf at the same time. It has not been determined which method is preferable from the calves point of view.

THE ROBERT SHUEY ranch still uses the old methods. There was a good deal of dust raised as Shuey and foreman, Hank Boeger raced well-trained roping horses after range-wild calves.

They were assisted with skill and precision by Bud and Bill Boeger, who help their father run the ranch, and by the aforementioned volunteers.

Shuey, former owner of the Shuey Creameries, is a working cowboy at these annual affairs. He swings an expert lasso and is adept at branding calves with his Double Bar S.

Social Security Benefits Told For Men 62

Men! If you are 62 or older, you may be entitled to social security benefits now.

This reminder comes from Morgan J. Shea, manager of the Berkeley district office. He explained that, as a result of the 1961 changes in the social security law, it is now possible for men as well as women to draw reduced benefits at age 62. The effective date of this change was August 1961.

When asked if all men should file for benefits at 62, Shea pointed out that most men who are over 62 and still working for high earnings would be better off to wait until they are 65 to file for full benefits. He explained that high earnings would prevent payment of reduced benefits.

The primary purpose of this new provision, he stated, was to enable workers who retire between 62 and 65 or workers in this age group whose earnings are low for any number of reasons to start receiving benefits immediately.

Kerr Approves Bonds; Parks Are Inspected

University of California President Clark Kerr announced he will support Contra Costa County's proposed $7.5 million park bond issue.

His statement was contained in a letter to Desmond M. Teeter of El Cerrito, former county administrator and general chairman of the Citizens Committee of 500 for Parks.

"Contra Costa County is in the fortunate position of realizing its future needs for open space before its land has become too expensive," the letter said.

"The citizens of this county will be making a sound investment in the future by setting aside these acres now at this reasonable cost.

"I recommend passage of this bond issue," Kerr added, "as a farsighted investment in our

Park Leader Speaks on Bonds

Lands owned by East Bay Municipal Utility District and earmarked for purchase in the proposed $7.5 million bond issue for Contra Costa County parks are not being purchased "twice" according to Alvin Burton, founder of the County Park and Recreation Council.

The election is June 5. Burton, who was council president for five years, replied to several questions raised in a recent Sun editorial.

HIS STATEMENT was as follows: Concerning the park bond issue there are a few facts that need to be cleared up and placed in their proper perspective.

1. The phrase, "land that belongs to the public" does not apply in this case because Contra Costa County is buying the lands it proposes to use for parks only once.

2. Regardless of what might eventually be worked out with EBMUD concerning the use of some of their lands, these facts are true: the purchase price for the park lands the county proposes to buy is reasonable, said Burton.

THE TIME to acquire these lands is now, and the bond proposal is an equitable, efficient and effective means of giving to the people of Contra Costa County the ownership and use of parks in the next couple of years instead of in some unforeseeable time when complicated procedures would finally allow some use of land belonging to another governmental agency.

The return to statement one: Contra Costa is only buying the land once.

Confusion arises from the use of the phrase "public ownership" because it implies that what belongs to the "public" belongs to everyone, said Burton.

Actually, each governmental agency represents one segment of the public and what it owns belongs to that segment and to no one else.

ALTHOUGH it is possible to have some free (or reasonably free) exchange of goods or money between some governmental agencies, it is not necessary nor advisable for all lands, material or monies to be completely given by one agency to another.

Carried to its ultimate absurdity that would mean that every water district, school district, city, county, state should give to any other governmental agency anything it asks for at no cost whatever simply because it is "publicly owned."

Contra Costa County has never owned the lands it is proposing to buy.

Here are the facts: One million people in Alameda County and only one quarter million people of Contra Costa County (that's a ratio of four to one) are in the EBMUD.

About half the population of Contra Costa is not even in the district, and many of those now in the district have only been supporting it a few years because the tremendous growth of this county is fairly recent, said Burton.

IT WAS the people of the water district who paid for the lands which were purchased for watershed purposes; then, when the land became surplus, and this was over a period of 30 years, it was gradually sold to the people of the East Bay Regional Park District.

They were also the people of Alameda County, but even they did not "buy the land twice" because their park agency was reimbursing their water agency.

Maybe this sounds complicated but compare it to a family that takes money from a savings account to buy a car—the same value is there but in a different form, said Burton.

The park district, all Alameda County people, therefore, purchased and developed Redwood Regional, Round Top, Grass Valley and Tilden Parks and for all of these years Contra Costa has had free access to all of them.

Meanwhile, Contra Costa has had less than 100 acres of county parks and those practically useless.

NOW IT IS suggested by some Contra Costans that the people of Alameda County, as EBMUD, give to the people of Contra Costa thousands of acres of water district land, or at least give free use of it, with the argument that it is in "public ownership."

If the land was situated in the middle of Alameda County we wouldn't think of claiming any right to it without buying it, continued Burton.

Perhaps what confuses the issue is the fact that the land happens to be in the middle of Contra Costa County so it is harder to realize that it doesn't belong to us.

The people of Contra Costa County, who do not belong to the water district, are buying the land for the first time because they never owned it before and those people who happen to belong to EBMUD are paying their share of the cost for park land but are being reimbursed for their share of the watershed land, said Burton.

AS FOR statement number two—the statement is its own argument. Time is of the essence; we can't afford to wait for the day, if and when it comes, for EBMUD and all the other county, state and districts that might be involved to decide what, when and how the water district lands can be used for parks.

The park director, his staff, the park commission, the board of supervisors, all have worked hard and long to prepare a good park plan and a feasible means of financing it.

A great many organizations and individuals who have been studying the county park program and its solution for a long time are backing the park bonds, said Burton.

It will take a two-thirds majority vote to pass the bonds and that means two "yes" votes for every "no" vote.

It's Clock Setting Time!

By VIC RUGH

If confusion is the Communist trade-mark in America, why hasn't congress investigated the nation's two most confusing annual periods—the switch to and from Daylight Savings Time?

To begin with there's the individual problem of re-setting the clock. Tomorrow night we'll all go through it again, picking up the time piece and gazing at it soulfully as we decide whether to turn it ahead an hour or back an hour.

Let's not dilly-dally this time. We have received directions from the California Department of Weights, Measures and Time keeping. You grasp the clock firmly in the moist palm of your left hand, face down (the clock, not you) and turn the knob sufficiently to advance the time a full hour.

DON'T TOUCH the other knob. That's the alarm and who wants to ruin a Sunday morning in bed?

Having followed this advice you then return the clock to its customary place—the night stand, the mantelpiece or the bathroom if you're slow at shaving and taking a shower like we are.

Now stand there and observe it! You've actually only prepared for the yearly battle to interpret the antics of your world—a world gone temporarily mad by the loss of 3600 seconds.

TAKE TRANSPORTATION: Public relations departments of the railroads and bus lines have gone into their usual tail-spin trying to explain away the entire dilemma and act as though it really hadn't happened.

Southern Pacific says, "Most trains operating within California will switch to daylight time and run on the same clock schedules as usual."

Notice that word "most." It's the exasperating key to the problem, for the railroad soothsayers continue:

"Trains that go beyond the borders of California will remain on standard time, making their arrivals and departures one hour later, according to public clocks."

SIMPLE, SO FAR? The explanation then continues, showing why "most" was included in that opening statement by asserting:

"Some additional minor adjustments to schedules will be made because of local conditions or the necessity of maintaining connections with other trains."

That is perhaps the murkiest clarifying statement sent to the public press in a long time. Just to convince the reader that he's no nearer the booby hatch than the fellow who dreamed up the press release, it gives this bit of advice in the closing paragraph:

Travelers are urged to check new timetables or consult ticket agents to make sure of arrival and departure times."

TAKE IT from a guy who has studied timetables with an eye to "riding the blinds" before some railroad architect streamlined away those collapsible refugees, timetables are unfathomable.

We contacted the Greyhound Bus Lines. The story was nearly identical to that of the railroads except the man in charge was more detailed locally.

"Commuters will catch their buses at the same time and the same place, providing they turn their clocks up right," the voice on the telephone explained.

HE TOO admitted intra-state lines would advance with Daylight Savings Time while intra-states remained on Standard Time. And then he thought back on what he had said and apparently felt the same as the railroads. He added:

"On those intra-state buses you'd probably better say that 'most' of them will operate on the same schedule. Some of 'em will change a little to make connections."

Personal travel, by auto, will probably be confused to some extent. One or two commuters are bound to forget the time change and wonder why there's so little traffic on the highway as they wander to work Monday an hour late.

As for the bars, they'll close at the same time—2 a.m. Sunday. The minute they do the clocks will be turned up to 3 a.m. since that is the official hour of the time change.

One advantage for imbibers! Those who need a taste of "the hair of the dog that bit them" on Sunday will find those same bars open an hour earlier, thanks to the time change.

Come to think of it, that's probably the only advantage.

HANNAH YASUDA, center, is shown explaining the operation of the Walnut Creek Consumers' Co-op on the occasion of its 25th anniversary celebration this month. Two members of a women's consumer study team from Japan are making the study as Kay Raynor, Pleasant Hill member, looks on.

DVC Science Center Attracts

Diablo Valley College's Science Center served as a "tourist" attraction and a valuable educational resource tool for more than 21,000 adults and school youth during its first year of operation just ended. It was reported yesterday by James S. Byrne, museum curator.

Byrne said that of this number, approximately half were public school children, while the remainder were adults.

In 12 months the museum hosted 14,397 visitors, while the DVC planetarium, the only one of its kind in the East Bay, entertained 6,757 persons. The latter, directed by physics instructor Robert H. Duke, is limited to seating 60 persons at a time.

THE MUSEUM SERVED thousands of school children from all parts of the county. In practice those below the fifth grade level are given talks and answers to their innumerable questions, than 1,000 geological specimens, while the older youngsters, after the tusk of a four-tusked viewing exhibits set up as teacup-elephant which roamed the living displays,

Cystic Fibrosis Group Forms in Contra Costa

Contra Costa County now has a chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. Announcement of the new chapter was made this week. The charter for the county chapter was received April 4.

The members of the new chapter are presently seeking an office somewhere in the county area. New members are also being sought.

Until one is found, they will meet at the homes of members. The next meeting of the group will be Wednesday 7:30 p.m. at the home of Joe Varricene, 179 Beverly Drive, Pleasant Hill.

All interested persons are asked to attend. Further information may be obtained by calling MU 2-1532 during the day, or CL 4-3316 in the evening.

VARRENE is the chapter's vice president.

Other officers are: President, William T. Hart, 61 Tara Road, Orinda; treasurer, Jack Skelton, 149 Margarido Drive, Walnut Creek; secretary, Dolores Green, 32 Hall Drive, Orinda.

The purpose of the local chapter and the national foundation is to raise money for cystic fibrosis research.

The foundation is dedicated to finding the cure and the way to control this dreaded children's disease.

Statistics show that every 2½ hours of the day a child is born with cystic fibrosis. More than 50 per cent of these children die before they are five years old.

A research center has recently been established at the Children's Hospital of the East Bay by the national organization.

Adams Elected

Adrian Adams of Orinda will be installed July 1 as president of the Oakland Rotary Club.

Masons Meet for Sojourners Night

Ray Wadsworth and Ed Shusser were chairmen for Sojourners Night held by Orinda Lodge No. 704 recently.

The event, held at the local Masonic Temple, included a turkey dinner, historical talk and movie.

O. J. (Wolly) Wohlgenuth, chairman of the Grand Lodge Masonic History Committee, spoke on: "Masonic History, a Story of Contrasts."

Mrs. Krotz Goes To Washington

Mrs. Donald Krotz of Monte Vista Road was among the Republican women attending the Women's Conference in Washington, D.C., recently.

More than 1000 Republican women will attend the conference from all parts of the country, voluntarily traveling at their own expense to help their party win victory at the polls.

Camping Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Brown of Orinda recently attended the region seven conference of the American Camping Association. It was held at the Stardust Hotel, Las Vegas, Nevada.

Take Safety Measures vs. Summer Fires

The "open burning" deadline is now set for May 31.

The Orinda Fire District urges all property owners, within our district, who have as yet not disposed of cuttings, prunings or other combustible garden materials, to call the fire house, CL 4-4333, for a special burning permit.

"Please make permit requests at least three days in advance," said William Koch Sr., fire marshal.

GOP Women Will Meet

"Get Acquainted with Our Candidates" is the theme of the May 2 meeting of the Orinda Republican Women's Club to be held at the Orinda Community Church with coffee hour starting at 9:30 and the meeting scheduled for 10 a.m.

Members of the club will speak for each Republican candidate whose name will appear on the primary election ballot. Candidates running for the non-partisan office of school superintendent will also be included.

Lose School State Aid? Details Are Wanted

The governors of the Contra Costa Junior College District should be informed whether or not their district is running the risk of losing some $1 million in state aid, due to alleged inability of some courses and textbooks to meet state education code requirements.

If the governors are fully informed on this matter, they can then discuss means of avoiding a very unwelcome situation, i.e., the loss of a large sum of money earmarked for local education.

Superintendent Drummond McCunn two weeks ago told The Sun he believes the district may lose the state aid next year because some courses and textbooks do not meet state code requirements pertaining to instruction on this nation's history, institutions and ideals.

McCUNN SAID he received information to this effect from a reliable source.

But Superintendent McCunn has not made his thoughts clear to his board of governors.

At a board meeting this week, he was asked by a board member whether or not the district did stand to lose $1 million, as stated in The Sun interview.

McCunn said he had mentioned this to the board before, but he did not elaborate.

AT THE REQUEST of Board President William Kretzmer, the matter was then placed on the agenda of the next board meeting, May 14 at the Contra Costa campus.

With the important question of a loss of $1 million in state aid formally on the agenda, a thorough airing of the question should result.

If such a danger does exist, it is unfortunate that the board of governors did not learn of it at a much earlier time.

Driver Education - - Keep It in Schools

A suggestion that driver education for our young people be taken away from the schools and be made the responsibility of the State Department of Motor Vehicles has been made by Roy Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction.

Simpson has told the State Board of Education that driver education in the schools has been a main target of many people who are complaining about too many frills in modern education.

That the state superintendent is suggesting this means that it is being considered seriously in the upper educational echelons, and it may find its way to the legislature in the near future.

MANY LAWS are passed with little notice. This could become one of them.

The Sun feels that it would be a great mistake to remove driver education from the schools, where it has been immanently successful, and conducted with a maximum of convenience for students and instructors.

Few people will disagree that it is vitally important that our young people be taught to drive properly, although there are some who feel that the responsibility should be shifted back to the parents, who for many years performed the difficult and tactful task.

But while there are many parents capable of teaching their children how to drive, there are also many more who are not psychologically or physically capable, and many others who just don't have the time to do a good teaching job.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL instructors under the present system are doing a fine job.

To shift the responsibility to the State Department of Motor Vehicles would require the establishing of a whole new hierarchy and a greater public expense than under the present system. It would involve greater inconvenience for the students who now learn driving along with their other high school subjects.

Is driver education a frill? Vehicle accident statistics in California say otherwise. It is a matter of life and death, every day, every year. The schools are tackling a primary job which no other agency can do as well, and as efficiently.

If Simpson's suggestion becomes a legislative bill, the parents of our future drivers, and everyone interested in highway safety, should make themselves heard on the subject.

A Great Effort ...

The local drive to distribute information about cancer and raise funds to fight cancer will reach its climax this weekend and next Monday.

The Sun applauds volunteers of the Contra Costa County branch of the American Cancer Society, which is one of the most important of a number of volunteer organizations doing a real job in our area.

The man and woman-hours devoted to the several vital causes, not only during fund drives but year-round, amounts to thousands and tens of thousands each year.

The efforts to eliminate cancer statistics from the American scene are optimistic, and there is real hope that medical research will provide the answers, given the time and the funds.

Until then, all of us should memorize the American Cancer Society's "Cancer Facts" leaflet, which has the main symptoms of cancer, the means of detecting the disease early.

The Sun also salutes the other organizations which are working just as hard to solve other health and disease problems. There are the National Foundation, the Heart Association, the Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the groups for muscular dystrophy and multiple sclerosis, and others.

The funds contributed to these causes go a long way, and in the right direction.

The Staff Corner

By BERNICE SCHARLACH

In preparing a budget for 1962-63 for the Mt. Diablo Unified School District's elementary schools, Assistant Superintendent John Moisso listed a $3100 item he knew had very little chance of being approved.

Not that it wasn't necessary. Not that it didn't have a great deal of value in the education of the children in school. Only that, in view of more pressing needs, this $3100 item had a very low priority rating.

The money would be used to give teachers a duty-free lunch hour by hiring yard and cafeteria monitors during the noon recess.

In an age of extreme tension, when we are urged to "take tea and see" to have a coffee break, a "Bayer break," a "pause that refreshes," who would question the value of a relaxing lunch hour for a teacher surrounded all morning with the problems of up to thirty children?

The first to understand, certainly, are the mothers of those children!

Instead of huffing and puffing back to class after chasing Johnny around the schoolyard all during lunch hour, imagine the teacher returning with renewed energy, calm and tranquil after a relaxing lunch. Imagine the quality of teaching the children could enjoy the rest of the afternoon!

Twenty-eight other school districts in northern California, including Oakland, have found it important enough to budget the expenditure.

But granted, in our school districts this is a luxury we can't afford at present, there is an alternative.

Why can't the cafeteria and school grounds duty be a project taken on by volunteers sponsored by the parents' clubs in each elementary school?

Once a week, or maybe once a month, for one hour a day, a mother can perform this important service for the benefit of her child.

Of course this isn't the ideal solution. Volunteers might not always show up. Legally they are not insurable. It would be much better to hire these people.

But until that day comes, it seems to us this is a darn good project in the Parent-Teacher realm.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE are the eager faces of these Glorieta School pupils, captured in the camera's lens by Orinda photographer, Wayne Miller, famed for his magazine pictures and his book: "The World Is Young." The Sun feels that this picture does an excellent job of depicting the quest for learning, appropriate to the observance of Public Schools Week beginning Monday.

Certainly, the expression on each tiny face is an invitation to visit the school in your neighborhood—to investigate the splendid job being done by the school boards, administrators and teachers in preparing their students for the world of tomorrow. Read of the plans for the observance of Public Schools Week in your community in The Sun today.

We Like It Here ...

It's the Getting Ready to Get Away That's Hardest

By MARIE MONAHAN

THERE'S one thing about getting off on a holiday with the children.

It makes you glad to get home again! Don't get me wrong! I thoroughly enjoy those little junkets—where you suddenly decide to get away from it all for a few days—and then load up the luggage & car like you're leaving for Europe.

But there must be an easier way. It's getting very complicated to turn the latch on the old family homestead.

UNFORTUNATELY, we never seen able to muster a devil-may-care attitude about departure—

We practically "clean house" before we leave, taking all the necessary precautions that the police & fire department warn vacationers about.

PAPERS that have been piling up by the hearth in a skyscraper-stack for months must suddenly be catapulted off to the garage.

The garden hasn't got its watering for weeks but suddenly we KNOW everything will perish in our brief absence if we don't give it a thorough soaking.

We suddenly decide to iron EVERYTHING we own because it's hard deciding just WHAT we're going to wear!

The children decide they can't LIVE without the dog for three days. "Can't we take Smokey this once, please?" ... & already the car looks like an overloaded gypsy caravan.

THIS is because the children can't decide whether they'll golf, swim, ski, plan tennis or horsebackride. Give them the responsibility of packing their own clothes & I guarantee you that at least the first time, you'll be all dolled up for "dinner out" some dreamy place & all they've brought along are their busted-out bluejeans.

If you like quick get-aways, don't ever have, under your roof, a pet rat.

There is absolutely nobody nearby who wants to care for your caged vermin. So you desperately call a St. Francis kind of soft soul in a town ten miles away & make arrangements to drop "Whitey" off there.

A neighbor boy has been conned into the care & feeding of your felines, which he will forget to do anyway. But the cans of cat food & evaporated milk must accompany a detailed note of instructions which you sit down to write in your slip—while the family sits in the car honking the horn for you to hurry!

WHILE YOU'RE grabbing a cup of hot coffee, scalding yourself with same & searching for a band-aid you'll never find, the kids are recruited to make a picnic lunch in case hunger hits on the highway. Which, with children, it does. On the average of once every five miles.

It is then you discover the garbage needs emptying AGAIN—or the icecream is melting all over the refrigerator.

While you're leaping around the house like a jet-propelled Nijinsky, still in your slip, somebody has punched somebody else—or the telephone rings bearing news of some crisis.

AT THIS POINT, even in your scanty slip, it is wise to turn the key in the door & at least get as far as the first gas station—or else you'll change your mind.

If YOU don't, Father will! Think what the change of scenery will do for you! If you THINK you left the iron on, be glad you paid the fire insurance & don't worry about the goldfish. They're used to murky water.

The next morning you'll awake in the lap of luxury, hotel linen & a new view out the window & suddenly you'll remember! You forgot one thing!

THE MILKMAN came early & by now, back home, six quarts of milk are souring on the porch.

Sometimes it's easier to stay home.

Letters to The Editor

MUIR MONEY

Dear Editor,

The board of trustees of John Muir Memorial Hospital would like to take this opportunity of thanking each and every one of the countless volunteers who worked so hard to make our recent building fund campaign a success.

At the same time, we would like to correct the impression that the hospital has all the funds it will need to construct and operate it. Assuming all pledges will be paid, we now have the minimum funds required.

However, additional funds are still needed to (1) offset the continuing expenses which will be incurred during the two and one-half-year period until the hospital is constructed; (2) to provide a reserve in the event construction costs exceed estimates; and (3) for operating capital that will be needed once the hospital starts operating.

ALFRED B. LAYTON,
Chairman.

SOLD ON SAFETY

Dear Editor:

I would gladly sponsor any action taken to secure safe glass doors for our home.

We had a near tragedy last year when our son ran through one in our home. He was lucky—nine weeks later he could walk again and a year later he is fully recovered. It could have been otherwise.

We surely need more public education about this hazard.

Our glass doors now have aluminum bars across them, which we feel is safe. I feel it important to at least put tape on the glass so everyone can see the closed position of the door.

Thank you for discussing this subject.

The Diablo Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi will celebrate the thirty-first anniversary of the organization's founding Tuesday at a banquet. The 10 local chapters will join for the occasion at Kellogg's in Walnut Creek.

Thirty-one years ago, the first chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was formed in Abilene, Kansas. There are now 7000 chapters and 150,000 members in 14 countries.

At the banquet the history of the local chapters will be reviewed. New members will receive their first welcome to full membership. A girl from each chapter will be awarded a trophy as the Girl of the Year from her own chapter for outstanding work during the past year.

The council executive board is serving as chairman of the founder's day banquet. The toastmistress for the evening will be Mrs. Emmett Laidlaw, Walnut Creek, president of Diablo Area Council.

Other members who will have a part in the program are Mmes. Barbara Kriner, Wayne Kidwell, James McDonald, Martin Rockey, Leonard Long, Bill Snyder, Ken Rishell, Lester Aubodara and Russel Walton.

Mrs. Gene Pleau will present a special message from the Beta Sigma Phi's founder, Walter W. Ross. She received the message from the international headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri.

Mrs. Vincent Maher of Moraga, a transferee, was the guest at the previous meeting held at the home of Mrs. John Therwhanger, Alamo.

Mrs. Therwhanger and Mrs. Raymond Stewart gave the programs for the evening on "Thoughts and Actions" from the book "Plenty."

Service chairman, Mrs. Gene Hagen, reported that the book, "Two Thousand Years of Japanese Art" by Yashiro had been donated by the chapter to the Contra Costa County Library. Donations have also been sent to the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center and the We Care Center in Concord.

A cocktail party was followed by dinner at the Castlewood Country Club Saturday night for members and their husbands.

SIGMA KAPPA

"My Fair Lady" will be the theme this year for the spring fashion show and luncheon presented annually by the Sigma Kappa Mother's Club of San Jose State College. The date is May 12, 12:30 p.m. at the Beta Rho Chapter house, 168 South 11th Street, San Jose. Sigma Kappas will model spring fashions for Mother's Club alumnae and their guests.

Cotton styles to wear "from dawn 'til sunset" will be modeled by the Mesdames Robert Patrick and Benjamin Sergeant, both members of the Flicker Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, from Walnut Creek.

Symphony Guild

Mrs. William Kanes, one of the models for the fashion show with the theme "Song of India" to be given by the Oakland Symphony Guild on the second of May, is shown wearing one of the saris which will be shown to help carry out this year's fashion show theme.

Mrs. Wayne Easley, Orinda, is doing table decorations for the show. Mrs. Ronald Coleman, Orinda, is also to be one of the models.

Mrs. Kanes is a very active member of the guild, having been one of the captains for the Orinda-Walnut Creek-Lafayette area for the "season ticket campaign, which is also now in progress. She has charge of decorations for the fashion show as well as being one of the models. She is an accomplished decorator with outstanding artistic ability.

Mrs. Easley has recently moved to Rheem from San Francisco. Their new home in Rheem has recently been finished and ready for occupancy. She and her husband and children are busily getting details of decorating in order.

This year's fashion show will begin with a social hour from 11 a.m. to 12:30, when luncheon will be served. It will be followed by the fashion show. A short skit, showing lovely models in saris, will precede the showing of western fashions from evening gowns to bathing suits. Tickets are available by calling DR 6-5850.

French Twist Coming...

"It's a party, not a pastry," explained Mrs. Ralph Hill in describing the French Twist gala that the Orinda Nursery School Association will give May 5 at the Diablo Country Club.

The French theme will be carried out in the red, white and blue decorations for the dinner dance. Diablo chefs will concoct a special French Twist dessert in honor of the occasion.

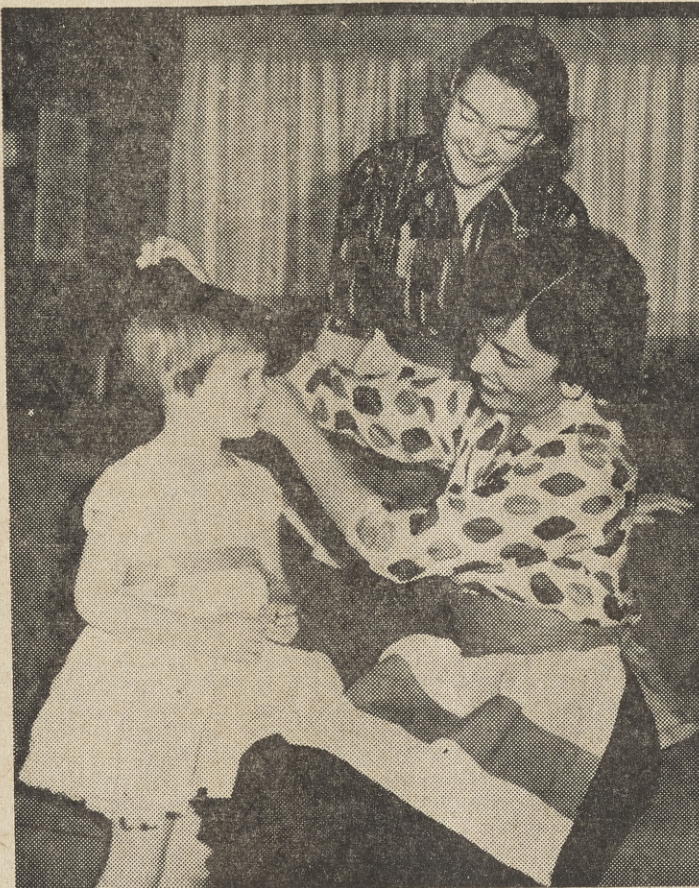

Highlight of the party is expected to be the spectacular twist contest featuring a very mysterious, very French prize.

Assisting dance chairman, Mrs. Hill, in preparation for the popular annual event, are Mmes. Anthony Biggs, William McGuire, William Manning, Pierre Pellissier, Robert Rieser and Lionel Viales.

Henry Gallagher's orchestra will play for the more sedate dancers as well as the twisters, and Bill Platte's banjo combo will entertain in the lounge during the cocktail hour.

Reservations are available through Mrs. Pierre Pellissier, CL 4-8486.

Fabrics Are Varied; 4 Leaders

Four leading members of fashion's family of fabrics arrive in the new spring styles. They are: surface-textured; smooth; lacy; sheer.

Sheer might be said to be the parent of all the others, for fabrics generally are developed to whisperweights, thin and airy.

However, there are also sheer and supple fabrics in a class by themselves—chiffons, crepes from wool to silk, and chiffon-weight wools. Knits are noted especially for suppleness.

All of these drape and shape to the feminine lines of new fashions.

Surface-textured group ranges from nubby wools and wool looks to ribbed types—twills, ottomans—and many kinds of Eichler, nationally known home builder, has long been associated with Democratic politics, and has served on the Golden Gate Authority and other state commissions.

Black and White Ball Receives Local Support

The "Sizzling Sixties" will set the decor mood for the fourth movement of the seventh annual Black and White Symphony Ball. It will attract many Contra Costans tonight from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Annually presented by the San Francisco Symphony Association as a fund raising benefit, the ball will feature four moods of music and decor at four leading San Francisco hotels, with shuttle bus service between.

Mrs. Clifton Moore of Walnut Creek has been taking reservations on this side of the tunnel. She and Moore will entertain 12 out-of-town guests, as is their yearly custom.

Others who are planning to attend include Messrs. and Mmes. William Brobeck, William Zion, John Gompertz, Charles Gibbs, Robert Cox, Norman Parker and William Lang.

The Brobecks of Sleepy Hollow have just returned from a trip to Europe. They will attend the ball with a large group, including the Gibbs, also of Orinda.

Dr. and Mrs. John Gompertz will entertain their guests at the Palace Hotel. Other hotels at which the black, white and (this year) gold ball will be held are: the St. Francis, Mark Hopkins and Fairmont.

Second Daughter

A second daughter was welcomed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. William David White. Elizabeth, now two weeks old, has joined Laurie, 22 months, at their parents' Lafayette home.

Fur Uses Changing

Times and customs change, and so do furs. Nowadays, mink isn't limited to frigid weather—women wear "small" or "little" mink fashions around the calendar.

Lighter colors, lighter weights and softer minks in more summerlike proportions—cardigans, stoles, capelettes and boleros—help to make furs appropriate for 90-degree weather.

Four 600 or better series were recorded in the Diablo Scratcher League last Tuesday night on their sweeper night. Donna Wins Three Gold Medals---Sets U.S. Mark

Overcoming a disappointing start, Donna de Varona came back to win three gold medals at the National AAU Senior Women's Indoor swim championships last weekend in Sacramento. In the process she set a new American record.

On opening day, Miss de Varona, of Lafayette, swimming unattached, failed to qualify her the 100-yard freestyle. Her time of 58.0 was .6 too slow. Last year she finished second to a record-breaking effort by Chris von Saltza.

The winning time in the finals was a record 55.5 this year. Apparently undaunted by her failure, Donna came back the same day to capture the 200-yard backstroke with a time of 2:17.9.

Her winning effort did not impress the skeptics, however, as Ginnie Duenkel staged a tremendous comeback to cut a 15-foot margin to five feet at the finish line.

A common opinion was that Donna, 15 yesterday, was almost "over the hill" and soon to be replaced by the "younger set" of swimmers.

The next day, the skeptics were to change their minds, however.

Victory No. 2 for Donna came in her specialty—the 200-yard individual medley.

Miss de Varona shaved .4 off her own national and American record in winning the contest in 2:18.9.

The Lafayette swimmer had to overcome a false start and a strong challenge by Sharon Finerman before she came home a winner.

The finalists in the medley had 75 yards behind them before the "false start" race was halted. Miss Finerman finished in 2:20.5.

Donna's third gold medal came in the 100-yard backstroke Saturday in a nip-and-tuck race with Miss Duenkel.

Both girls were timed in 1:04.0, but Donna got the nod from all judges.

The time was a full second off the national and American marks and a half-second off the time Donna had in qualifying.

One Sponsor Is Needed for WC Junior Baseball

With the rosters for the 51 Walnut Creek junior baseball teams being announced tomorrow, one sponsor is still needed.

Joe McElory, supervisor of the city's recreation department, said three sponsors came forward this week to ease a severe problem facing the department and the co-sponsoring Walnut Creek Youth Athletic Association.

The lone team without a sponsor is in the 11-year-old International League.

It costs between $110 and $175 to completely outfit a team. The higher figure is for a sponsor who wants brand new uniforms for his team.

The cost includes outfitting a 13-man team with uniforms, socks, caps, catcher's equipment, bats and balls.

The Ski Line . . .

Official Season Ends; But the Snow Remains

By HEC HANCOCK

So now comes the time to write the swan song to the ski season. It's time to say finis, au revoir, and all that jazz.

The only trouble is that closing out this season is very much like burying a corpse that insists upon sitting up.

Traditionally, Easter Sunday marks the close of the official season. Most of the resorts close shop. What facilities continue to operate are utilized by the "die hards."

Ironically, despite the fact that Easter was much later this year, there remains a larger snow pack right now than we have enjoyed at any time during the past three seasons.

In view of this condition, several areas plan to continue operations through May.

Alpine Meadows, the newest jewel in the Sierra crown, has set up an extensive program to enable skiers to best enjoy the spring skiing.

To kick things off, Alpine Meadows has extended an open invitation to all ski clubs to enter teams in the First Annual Spring Carnival Slalom Team Race to be held at Alpine Meadows tomorrow.

The race will run over parallel open dual slalom courses. Teams will consist of four men and two women, with the best four times of the six racers being used in computing the lowest aggregated team time.

The winning team will be awarded the "first leg" on the Alpine Meadows Spring Carnival Perpetual Cup. Individual awards will be made to the team members and the top three individual performances, both men and women.

Alpine Meadows also plans to operate the chair lift through May 30. To take advantage of the spring snow, the lift will operate from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. Three types of lift tickets will be sold. A morning half-day—8:30 until 1 p.m.; an afternoon half-day—1 p.m. until 6 p.m., and the all-day ticket.

Other areas plan to operate on weekends as long as the snow and demand continues. These will be on a week-to-week basis.

Echo Summit Ski Area, Rainbow Tavern, Soda Springs, among others, will be available for the immediate future.

No official word has been forthcoming from Squaw Valley, but it is understood that operations will continue as long as the snow pack warrants.

Those planning excursions to the land of the corn snow will have to play it by ear, for the most part. If you wish to ski other than the Alpine area, it might be a good plan to phone and ascertain the exact status.

Many of the skiing fraternity will take advantage of the extended season to have a bash in the corn snow. They will be easily identified by the glowing snow tans they will sport each Monday upon their return.

The rest of the skiing family will block their skis, put their boots into boot trees, hang up the stretchies, and call it quits for the season.

From the ski slopes, the troops will disperse to lakes and rivers for the summer counterpart, water skiing, the golf courses, tennis courts, baseball diamonds, and for many, work in the backyard.

This has had to be the finest season yet, but as always, we look forward to an even bigger one next year.

So until it's time to get in the Ski Line again, have fun.

Pleasant Hill Wakes Up To Stun CCD Leader, 6-5

In Contra Costa Division baseball Tuesday afternoon, Pleasant Hill scored three runs in the seventh inning to upset previously undefeated Mt. Diablo, 6-5, at Concord.

In other games, Pittsburg moved to within a half game of the leaders with a 1-0 win over Pacifica, and Antioch knocked Clayton Valley out of contention with an 8-6 win.

Last year the Eagles and Devils tied for the title with 10-2 records.

College Park, 3-3, had a bye Tuesday.

Clayton Valley	3	3	0	1½
College Park	3	3	0	1½
Pleasant Hill	2	4	0	2½
Pacifica	1	5	0	3½

(Does not include games played yesterday.)

Al O'xley went the distance for the Rams and allowed only five hits while striking out two.

The Rams, who had won only one game all season, went into the third inning trailing by one run.

Jack Baldassari singled, then consecutive walks issued to Bill Erickson, Dave Clark, Jim Dundlap and John Dundas scored two runs.

MT. DIABLO tied the score with one run in their half of the third, but the Rams picked up another in the fifth.

Erickson singled and Clark singled. Trying to score, Erickson was thrown out, but Clark moved to third. With the pitcher on the mound, Clark dashed for the plate and slid in under the throw.

Pleasant Hill picked up three more in the seventh. Baldassari singled and Erickson walked. The runners advanced to third and second on a wild pitch. An error on a ball hit by Clark allowed both men to score, with Clark moving to third. Pete Caruso stepped up and whacked a single to drive in the final run.

Mt. Diablo scored three runs in their half of the seventh, but it was not enough to catch the Rams.

Del Valle Gets Chance To Shake Up FAL Race

Miramonte and Acalanes, the two leaders in Foothill League baseball, each get a crack at hapless Del Valle next week as the league moves into the final half. The Dons and Miramonte, who played yesterday for undisputed possession of the top spot, both had beatable.

The rest of the league was two games back.

THE DONS get their first look at new Del Valle Tuesday afternoon on their home diamond.

It shouldn't be much of a contest. The Trojans have mustered just one win in five games, being shut out three times.

Choosing Wallpaper Like Picking a Hat!

Picking the right kind of wallpaper can be pretty much like picking your new spring hat. You can have fun, or you can spend several exhausting and inconclusive hours trying to make up your mind.

So pick your paper carefully, reminds the Wallpaper Council, and you'll live happily with it ever after.

It is best to have some idea of what you're after before you get into the store.

The wallpaper people in your local store will be happy to help you solve your decorating problems, but they can't make up your mind for you.

So be prepared to give them some idea of the type of furniture you have, the color combinations of your accessories, and a general idea of what you want.

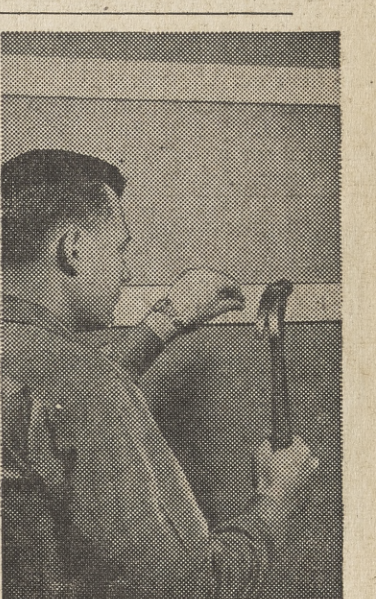

With the correct wallpaper, there is no doubt but that you can easily alter and improve any room in the house.

Rooms in compact, modern ranch homes can be made to appear more spacious, while large ambling rooms can take on that comfortable, intimate look, with the right wallpaper with the proper texture, pattern and tone.

Many wallpaper stores will let you have a strip of wallpaper, so that you can tape it up on your wall and let your family live with it for a while.

The new living-dining room areas provide lots of family use, so that walls must be subdued, yet provide an everpleasing background.

MASONRY nails permit furring strips for hard-board paneling to be applied directly to concrete walls.

Planing Tip

Make sure the plane blade is very sharp and set for a very shallow depth when planing hardboard edges; you'll have no ragged edges.

Weed Control Keeps Lawn

Spring fever can hurt your lawn program, if it causes you to put off those special weeding jobs which mark the difference between the amateur and the professional looking home grounds.

Eliminating the stray grasses and weeds which crop up under fences, around buildings, and in driveways and play areas definitely improves a home's appearance.

THOUGH SPOT weed removal is a back-breaking job by hand, there is a new chemical way to destroy those unwanted grasses and weeds. The method is nearly effortless and certainly compatible with spring fever sufferers.

Diluted with water and sprayed or sprinkled, the new patented compound, containing erbon, kills unwanted vegetation and leaves a temporary residual in the soil to control seeds as they germinate.

A SINGLE application of the temporary organic soil sterilant often provides seasonal control of vegetation in a temperate climate. Two or three applications may be necessary in a more southerly region. Treated areas are safe for children and pets; the non-selective herbicide does not contain any arsenicals.

Although such a soil sterilant is new to the home owner field, it has had a long history in the agricultural and industrial fields. Developed about six years ago, the vegetation control compound has been used successfully throughout the country for playgrounds, parking areas, outdoor theaters, railroad and highway right-of-ways, and industrial plant areas.

CLIP system is used to install wood-grained hardboard on studs spaced 16 inches, center to center.

Tight Lid Needed for Storing Paint

Keep paint can rims clean so that lids will fit tight. This way paint can be stored for a longer period of time without hardening.

To keep rims clean punch several nail holes in the bottom of the groove so that accumulated paint can drip down.

Dispensing String Is Easy This Way

An ordinary metal household funnel can serve as a string dispenser.

Nailing it vertically to the wall, drop the ball of string in the top and feed the end of the string out through the bottom. Then pull from the bottom to feed out as much string as needed.

Mutnick Attends High 12 Meeting

Attorney Harold E. (Hal) Mutnick, candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress from the new 14th Congressional District representing Contra Costa County, and his campaign chairman, B. O. Wilson, former county superintendent of schools, attended a recent luncheon meeting of the Walnut Creek Hi-Twelve Club.

Paul Tickner, president of the club, presided at the meeting.

We Bought a Mountain

"We bought a mountain!" Lyle Gardiner explains simply the 18 lovely acres on Kalye Hill, off Miner Road, Orinda, which he and his wife, Kathryn, bought five years ago. Taming the mountain has not been a simple project, however.

Five years ago, Gardiner retired as the owner and president of the L. J. Gardiner Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of precision instruments in Columbus, Ohio. Moving to California, the Gardiners looked at property for several months before seeing the hillside in Orinda. It was covered with greasewood and poison oak.

DESPITE THIS, the Gardiners fell in love with it. They had left a 550-acre Mt. Vernon style farmhouse in Westerville, Ohio. Kathryn Gardiner, who could have been a professional interior decorator with her flair for design, had transformed the old mansion into a show place that was written up in national and local magazines.

There were many things about the mountain that attracted the Gardiners. It offered privacy, a view, space to breathe. The ensuing years of planning, building, gardening have been more demanding in some ways than the executive tasks from which Gardiner retired.

THE PROJECT has been well worth the effort. Today Kalye Hill is subdivided into 10 lots, five of which are built on. At the top is the Gardiners' majestic, yet homey, modified colonial house.

It is filled with priceless antiques. Kathryn has made a hobby of collecting through the years. Rose and lavender are nor difficult thing to plant." IN DESCRIBING her young blossoming cherry trees, Mrs. Gardiner quotes Catherine Marshall's description of the cherry trees in Washington, D.C., "Fairy feathered avenues of flowering cherry."

The Gardiners also own 62 acres on a neighboring hillside off Sycamore Road. Mrs. Gardiner has such a strong feeling for beauty, that when she discovered in an Ohio antique shop, the magnificent Meissen candelabra and clock set now adorning the marble mantelpiece, she became physically ill.

Her love of beauty is apparent in the predominant colors throughout the house. Kathryn Gardiner takes a "find" such as the old wicker buggy in the entry hall, arranges it with pots of African violets and voila! A conversation piece!

After purchasing his hill, Gardiner went to the regional planning department of the University of California. There he enlisted the services of the head of the department, Francis Violich in plotting the land.

Architect Paul Hammarberg designed the house according to Mrs. Gardiner's specific requests. On some points, architect and owner weren't in agreement. For instance, Mrs. Gardiner wanted a balustrade across the front of the house. Hammarberg said that it didn't fit with the architecture. Mrs. Gardiner said: "Beauty is its own excuse for being."

THE BALUSTRADE is one of the distinctive features of the house. It proved so effective, it was repeated in the patio area. Robert Babcock laid out the landscaping. Again there is a predominance of pinks and lavenders. The bright colors of native California shrubs and flowers are also much in evidence, at Mrs. Gardiner's insistence.

One of the outstanding features of the landscape design is the pool in the front courtyard. Another is the cherry trees which were a mass of bloom recently. Lining the road with cherry trees was a point upon which Babcock and Mrs. Gardiner felt strongly in accord. Babcock says that by planting the flowering trees against the native oak, a splash of spring color provides a great addition to the landscape. Any street could be improved by lining it with trees, according to Babcock. "It is not a costly

Semantics Society to Hear Widnsr

"The D.E.L.H.I. Square" is the topic of a lecture by Arthur Widner of Concord at the regular meeting of the Contra Costa Chapter of the International Society for General Semantics tonight at 8 at Diablo Valley College, Room T101, according to Robert Carr of Pleasant Hill, president.

Used as an antidote for logic against the fallacies in our culture, Widner has developed the Square in a series of communication courses at the Diablo Valley College where he is an instructor. It is based on the general semantic theory of the influence of language on human behavior.

The public is invited to attend the free lecture, according to Carr. For further information call Carr at MU 2-2720, or program director at YE 5-3332 evenings.

This Is the House That Inga Built

By JANE PUTNAM

The home at 828 Mountain View, Lafayette, is a reflection of the woman who lives in it. No nicer compliment could be paid to a home—or to a woman.

The functional, artistic house, of Danish modern design, is largely the work of the lady of the house, Mrs. Holger (Inga) Hjortsvang.

"Everywhere I look are things that I made with my two hands," says dynamic Inga with well-deserved satisfaction.

HER HUSBAND, a prominent electrical engineer, has installed a unique lighting and heating system. However, he attributes the home's individuality to "the little woman with big ideas."

Two of the Hjortsvangs' three children live at home. Suzanne, a recent graduate of the University of California with Phi Beta Kappa honors, is employed in San Francisco. Morton, age 12, is a student at Lafayette School. The oldest daughter is married and lives out of state.

"When we started, we made a little model," says Inga, who comes from an artistic family. Her sister, Anna Thommeson, is one of Denmark's leading contemporary artists. Anna's husband, Erik Thommeson, is the sculptor whose work received such acclaim at a recent Danish art exhibit at the De Young Museum in San Francisco.

MRS. HOLGER (INGA) Hjortsvang, left, looks like a lady of leisure as she stands on the balcony of her Lafayette home with her daughter, Suzanne. Dynamic Inga designed, decorated the home and did much of the work herself.

INGA LAID all of the cork floors herself. She hung Japanese grass cloth wallpaper throughout the house. There is one sector of wall leading from the stairs to ceiling that measures 18 feet. Her husband thinks that this is something of a record.

Although Inga had not worked with tile before, she laid the white ceramic tile in the bath. This has led to her taking up something she had always wanted to do: Mosaics. The turquoise wall tile in the kitchen between the counter top up to the cut board was Inga's handiwork.

When it comes to curtaining the large expanse of windows, Inga was "nearly drowned" in 70 yards of woven fabric as she made the draw drapes herself. The finished product measures 32 feet wide.

Every bit of the landscaping was done by Inga. She not only tilled the land, but planted the plants—and now cares for them.

YOU CAN almost guess who the Hjortsvangs' painter was. Inga says matter-of-factly that she didn't paint the entire house just once. It took three coats: One primer and two other coats.

The plywood "eyebrows" over the deck, a distinctive feature of the house, also required three coats of paint. The "eyebrows" are of double-decker plywood with fiberglass insulation sandwiched in between.

The heart of the Hjortsvangs' home is the solid walnut kitchen. It is open style and doesn't look like a kitchen because of the legs and wood. The counters are of white formica, contrasted by a turquoise tile "splash wall."

One of the "conversation pieces" of the house is the lighting. Holger must take a bow for this. Six giant round ball lamps give effective and functional lighting. There are completely automatic switches throughout the house. All lights can be controlled from any switch.

Another of Holger's innovations is a radiant heating system that "thinks for itself." So far as Inga knows, it is the only one in America. The four floor heaters can be seen. The system goes off and on by itself—without a manual thermostatic control.

OFFICIALS from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company have expressed an interest in the unique lighting and heating systems.

The decor of the house is carried out in Danish modern. Many of the paintings on the wall are by Inga.

The Hjortsvangs left Denmark

10 years ago and went to South America. Inga says that she had "an injection in beautifying" during three years in Caracas, Venezuela. "Every house there is very different. The patio is the center of the home—all rooms lead to it. Often, the patio has a swimming pool."

The Hjortsvangs have lived in "the house that Inga built" for 2½ years.

Chemical Way To Edge Grass Is Discovered

Next time you give your lawn a complete mowing, notice the amount of time you spend clipping the grass around flower beds and trees, or along curbing, sidewalks, and driveways. These are areas your mower can't reach, and keeping them trimmed is a monotonous and time-consuming chore.

Now your trimming time can be eliminated without hurting your lawn's appearance. A new chemical way to edge turf areas has been developed. The helping hand is a wedge of wax impregnated with dalapon, a selective herbicide which controls such grasses as bermuda, zoysia, fescue and bluegrass.

Two Local Girls At Grange Meet

More than 100 young people of the California State Grange, two from this area, took a look at their opportunities in agriculture when they met on the California State Polytechnic College campus in San Luis Obispo April 15-19 for their annual spring youth conference.

During the five-day session the teenage boys and girls heard prominent speakers, attended educational workshops and participated in discussion groups on a wide range of topics. Cathryn L. Kennedy of Pleasant Hill and Margaret A. Miller of Walnut Creek attended.

PLENTY of light for shaving and grooming is provided by flared wall bracket diffusers combined with the fluorescent lights above mirror.

Here's a Hint

Trim the bristles of an old stiff bristle toothbrush until they're only about one-fourth inch long. This makes a handy tool for cleaning clogged files when a metal file card isn't handy.

Espalier Shrubs In Narrow Spots

Along a narrow pathway or beside a drive, it is often difficult to grow shrubs without their being in the way. By planting espaliered shrubs in such places, you can have your narrow walk and use it, too. It is not only for the narrow space, however, that espaliered plants are put to use. A bare wall can become a garden feature with one or another attractive plants grown flat against it.

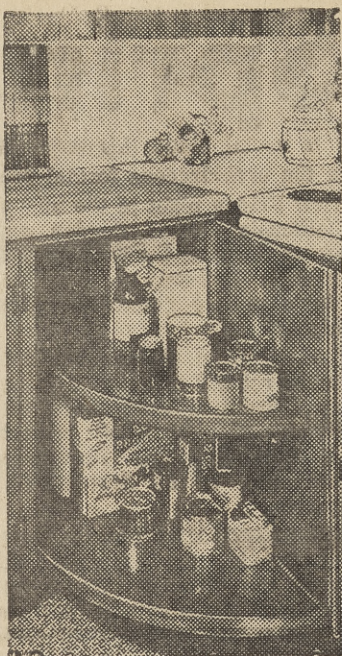

In cooler gardens, a fruit tree can be made to bear edible fruit when grown against the heat-catching backdrop of wall or fence. A fruit tree so grown also becomes a decorative feature in the landscape.

IN HIS CHOICE of plant material for starting an espalier, the gardener is not nearly so restricted as you might think. A local member of the California Association of Nurserymen can offer a wide variety of trees and shrubs suitable for espalier training. Many plants, in fact, are to be found in nurseries already espaliered.

A cross section of shrubs available in espalier form might include a rangpur lime, a manzanillo olive, a red bottle brush, a fern pine, a weeping fig, a southern magnolia, an evergreen pear and any of several bright berried pyracanthas. Add to these more than a dozen possibilities which your nurseryman can show you how to start and you can see that your choice is really quite wide.

THE PYRACANTHAS are especially attractive when espaliered. Their glossy, tightly-bunched little leaves stand out well in patterns against a wall. The snowy masses of flowers in spring and the shiny red or orange berries in late summer and fall add their seasonal highlights. Pyracanthas are relatively slow growing, too, and easy to keep trained in the espalier pattern you choose for them.

In planting your espalier, keep the trunk of the shrub or tree out from the wall about a foot, and firmly anchor the trellis so that it won't suffer wind damage or topple accidentally. Future growth may be guided along a continuation of the original trellis or along guide wires strung out in the pattern of growth. Such wires should be heavy gauge and securely fastened to the wall.

REAL efficiency is effected in a specially designed cabinet that makes good use of corner storage space. The shelves swing out.

Too Many Plugs Can Endanger Your Home

To operate all the small kitchen appliances, such as toasters, coffeemakers, wafflemakers and electric frying pans, it is essential to have sufficient outlets to have these electric items always ready to work. When it becomes necessary to remove a plug each time another appliance is to be plugged in, one of two things happens: The do-it-yourselfer in the house rigs up a dangerous, octopus-like device to supply additional sockets.

Oil Staining Of Wood Needs Some Care

Before application of oil stain to furniture test the stain on a scrap piece of the same wood. If the stain soaks in too much it can be kept lighter by wiping off more quickly or by thinning with turpentine.

If it comes out blotchy, apply a coat of sealer first.

Farm Workers Now Eligible to Claim Benefits

Beginning on Tuesday, agricultural workers in Contra Costa County and vicinity may claim benefits for disabling injuries and illnesses not connected with their work under an amendment to the California Unemployment Insurance Code enacted by the 1961 legislature it was announced today by Ray Schultz, manager of the Department of Employment's district disability insurance office in Oakland.

Schultz estimated that about 5000 farm workers in the area served by the Oakland office are covered by the new program, for which farm workers have been paying through a one per cent deduction from their wages since last October 1.

This is the same non-occupational disability insurance that has been available to California workers in business and industry since 1946. It is different from Workmen's Compensation Insurance which covers employees while they are on the job, and which is paid for by employers.

Schultz pointed out that a farm worker must have received wages of at least $300 in the three-month period ending last December 21 in order to qualify for disability and hospital benefits on claims beginning in May, June or July.

The weekly benefit amount may range from a low of $10 to a high of $70, and is based on the claimant's wages during the highest paid quarter of his base period.

Claimants who are hospitalized are entitled to $12 a day in hospitalization benefits for a maximum of 20 days in addition to whatever they are drawing in basic disability benefits. Basic disability benefits are paid for each day beginning with the eighth day of disability, or the first day of hospital confinement, whichever comes first.

Farm Bureau Women Will Meet Friday

Contra Costa Farm Bureau Women's County Committee will meet next Friday at 10 a.m. at Farm Bureau Hall, Concord with Mrs. Lorens Foard of Danville, county chairman, officiating.

The Danville group will host the luncheon and afternoon entertainment with Mrs. H. K. Tennis, chairman; Mrs. A. C. Meyer, and Mrs. Henry Hoffman of Alamo, and Mesdames Fred Donahue, J. M. Huesser, Frank Macedo, G. W. Schlappman, M. Walin and Norris Knutson of Danville.

In the afternoon Mrs. T. J. West, 4-H leader, will present Clayton Valley and Holbrook Heights girls who showed in the recent county-wide dress review staged by Home Advisor Anna M. Pleasant in Martinez. Modeling self-made garments, from simple sleeveless blouses and gathered skirts to three-piece suits will be Heidi Perkins, Pamela Rath, Alice West, Marjorie Zimmerly, Joan Dyer, Judy Riegelsberger, Susie Dent and Chris Brown.

Clamp Technique

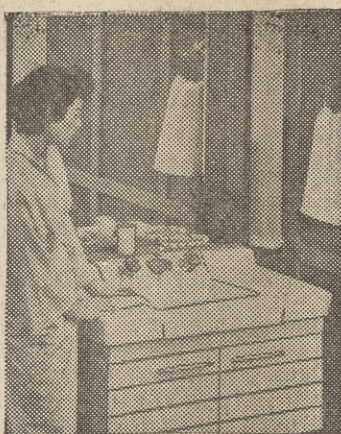

Grasp a small piece to be drilled on a drill press with a large clamp.

Use a second clamp to hold the entire assembly in place on drill press table.

Free Seed Is Easy to Find

It's seed-planting time again, and here's a tip for gardeners: You can get a lot of seeds free, or at nominal cost, by simply buying things you need and use anyhow. A seed industry source says that there are probably about 1000 sales promotion plans utilizing seeds in operation right now!

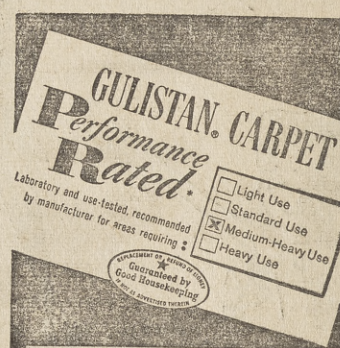

One seed company alone is working on more than 300 such activities, and expects to distribute nearly 40,000,000 packets of seed in these promotions. This is understandable if you consider that there are about 40,000,000 home gardeners in the U.S., and all of them buy such things as garden hose, sport clothing, food products, etc., where seeds are offered as the premium.

BATHROOM takes on a new beauty and utility via this lavatory-vanity combination that offers storage space and counter-top area.

The "deals" turn up in hardware stores, filling stations, food stores, drugstores and many other places.

NOW — you can be sure of the RIGHT carpet for your needs ...

At the Upper San Leandro filter plant, Marvin Stephenson (right) learns from East Bay Water's Gordon Laverty how automation cuts water costs.

U. C. graduate student Marvin Stephenson says:

"The clearwell just asked for a big drink of water."

"Since I'm studying engineering, it fascinates me to see how theory turns into actual practice at East Bay Water's modern facilities."

"Purified water is stored in the clearwell. Just now two million gallons were delivered into the system. Then the clearwell ordered a fresh supply."

"When the water level goes down, gauges in the clearwell automatically speed up the flow of water through the filter plant. This panel monitors the whole job."

"Someday a panel like this will control the whole system. It's easy to see how necessary automation is if water supplies are to keep pace with East Bay growth."

Automatic control—it's one of the keys to keeping your water rates the lowest in the Bay Area. It enables us to transport, measure, filter, and distribute water with a speed and efficiency possible in no other way.

The way we see it, we have three important jobs. The first is to make sure your water is pure. The second, that it's plentiful. And thirdly, that it's low in cost. Automation—an important part of your $283-million Water Development Program—helps us do all three.

EAST BAY MUNICIPAL UTILITY DISTRICT

Too Dark?

The homemaker's skillful use of the electrical conveniences at her command begins with the basic understanding of the sources and controls of power inside the home.

These are the wires, outlets and switches which determine both electrical capacity and flexibility.

Housepower refers to the total electric capacity of a house.

WHEN THERE is full housepower, it means that the house is adequately wired, and the whole electrical system performs unobtrusively and efficiently.

Electricity is measured in terms of volts, amperes and watts.

It is available in any quantity, but if more electric power is desired in the home, then the size of the "service entrance" must be increased.

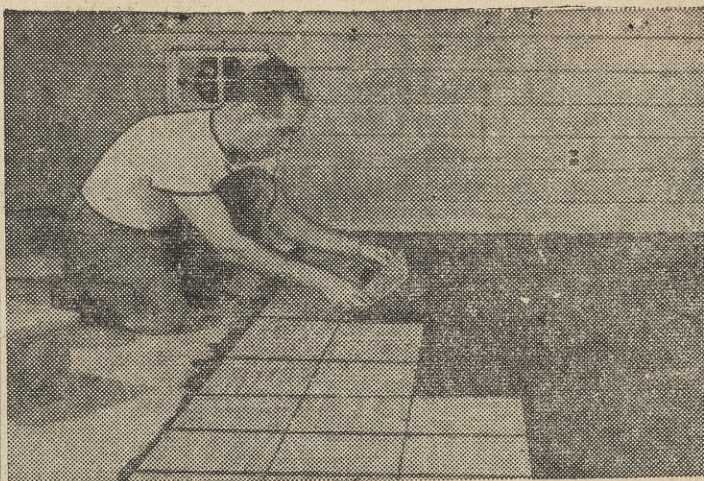

The size of the wires in the service entrance determines the amount of current available in the home; the larger the wire the more electricity it can carry all at once.

IN MOST older homes the electric service entrance was planned to provide electricity only for lights and a few small appliances (perhaps 30 or 60 amperes).

The 100-ampere service entrance is the minimum capacity recommended today by electrical authorities as stated in American Standard Requirements for Residential Wiring.

Most houses built prior to 1940 rely on one or two 15-ampere circuits.

Today, however, there will be a minimum of one general purpose circuit for each 375 or 500 square feet of floor area, depending upon the size of the wire in the circuit.

Nearly everyone reads The Sun.

Keeping Bright

Keep kitchen and bathroom faucets bright by sponging them with full-strength pine cleaner, then wiping dry.

Flooring Tiles Vary, Meet Specific Needs

The homeowner who is considering the new flooring tiles for one or more rooms in his house, will find a bewildering variety of types of material available.

Each type has its own special properties, and each was designed to meet specific needs.

In order to pick the best type for a specific place and purpose, it is well to know all the different kinds and their principal features.

VINYL (tile or sheet) is tough and non-porous, and highly resistant to wear. It comes in clear colors and special effects. The more vinyl content, the higher the price.

Vinyl asbestos makes a good all-around, low cost floor. It is available in a wide variety of colors and designs. It resists stains and wears well.

Linoleum (tile or sheet) subdivides as follows: (1) Inlaid linoleum, which is durable, long-wearing and easy to clean and (2) embossed linoleum, which has texture interest, often resembling masonry.

Cork tile makes an unusually quiet flooring and affords cushiony comfort under foot.

WHILE NATURAL cork will not take the abuse of kitchen traffic, water damage, etc., cork with vinyl or urethane surface is highly resistant to wear, stains and washing.

Asphalt tile is lowest in cost of the tile group and is especially popular for use in finished basements and recreation rooms.

It is, however, susceptible to dents and stains.

Some types, though, are grease resistant, and polymer-resin asphalt is also longer wearing than other asphalts.

Rubber tile makes a cushiony, comfortable flooring and is exceptionally quiet. It comes in clear colors. A point to consider is that it requires constant wax care to maintain appearance.

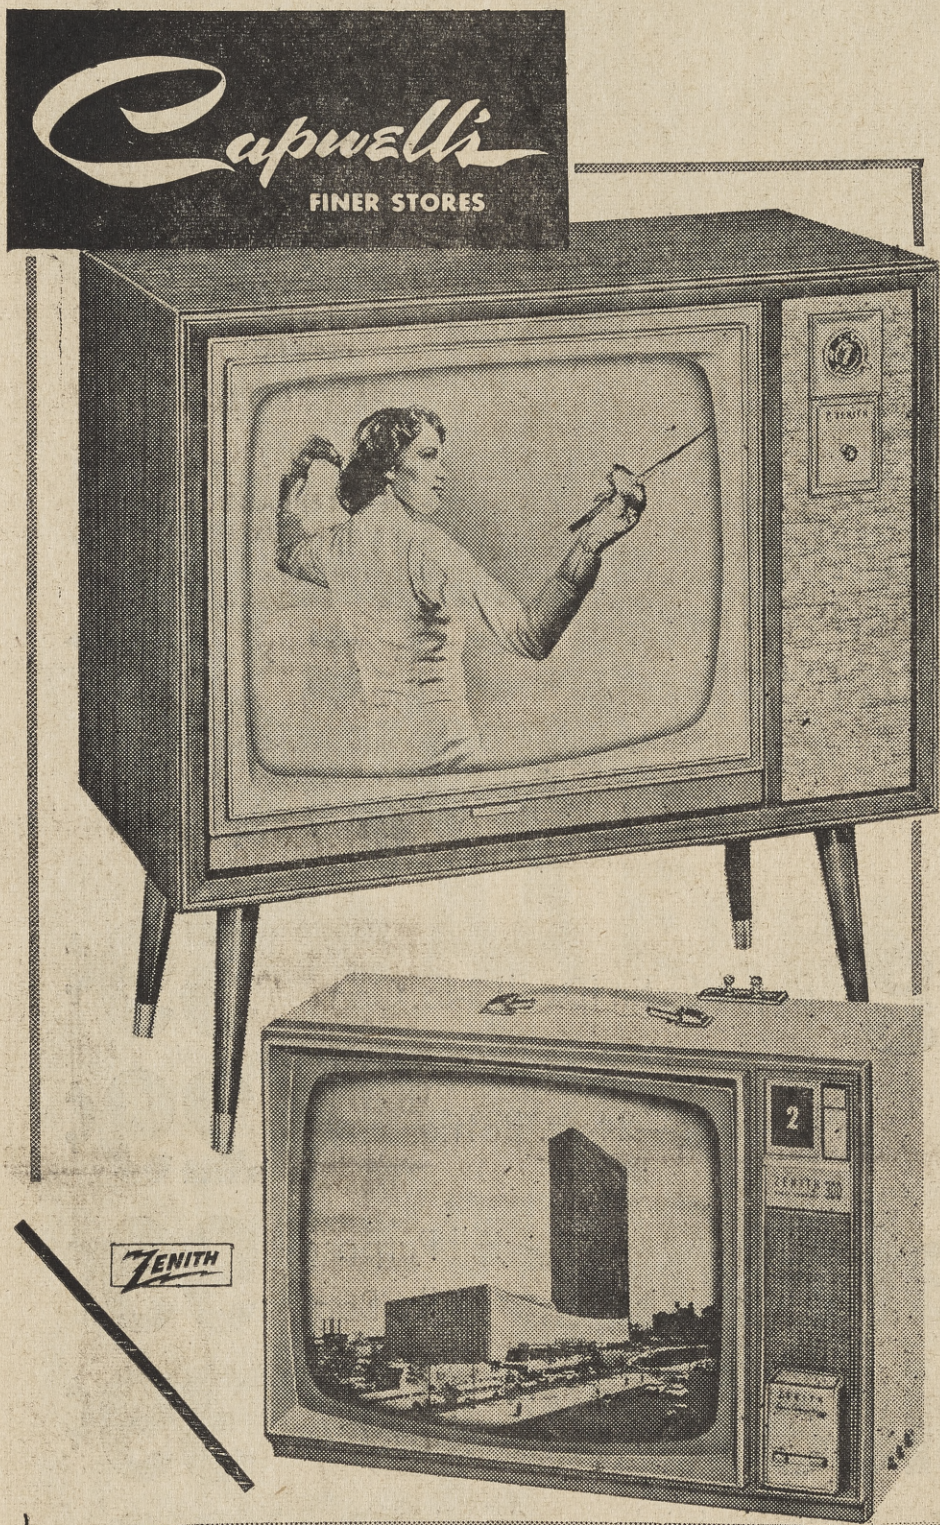

PRINTED FLOOR coverings are available in a wide variety of patterns and colors. They are probably the most inexpensive of all floor coverings and need no installation, since they unroll like a rug. The vinyl-surfaced types will give the best wear.

Terrazzo, flagstone, marble, ceramic are good looking masonry materials and make hard, durable floors.

"Sealing" makes terrazzo and flagstone easier to clean. The new marble and ceramic tiles need no special protection.

MOST OF the resilient floor tiles are made in more than one gauge (thickness).

Upper Grades Show Big Increase in Enrollment

Contra Costa County's public school enrollment from the junior high school grades upward again exceeded the elementary grades in growth between March, 1961, and March, 1962.

Junior high and high school enrollment, reports the office of County Superintendent Floyd Marchus, increased 7%, and that of Contra Costa and Diablo Valley Colleges was up 9%.

Total enrollment was 117,777, down from October's 118,946 but 4% higher than that of a year ago.

The upward shift in school population, the county superintendent said, has radically altered the ratio of children entering school to those leaving. Where four first graders entered for every senior less than a decade ago, the ratio is now two to one—10,166 children in first grade to 5334 seniors.

ON AN INDIVIDUAL district basis, Moraga experienced the highest rate of growth with 37 pupils in March, 1955. Moraga has increased to 514 children because of large scale residential construction.

At the secondary level San Ramon Valley Union High School District and Mt. Diablo Unified School District lead in enrollment increases, both with more than 11% in the past year. Their numerical increases were 119 and 1249, respectively.

Among the minority of school districts losing enrollment, Port Costa has the highest rate of decrease, at 14%, and Richmond School District the highest numerical decrease, at 272 (2%).

Native Dances In AFS Talent Show Sunday

A flame dance by a Indonesia student will be a highlight of the American Field Service talent show to be presented at Las Lomas High School Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

A.F.S. students in their native costumes and their American "brothers" and "sisters" will participate in the hour's entertainment. Dances, songs and skits will make up the program.

The performers represent Asia, Central America and Europe, as well as the United States. The visitors are all attending local high schools in this country for one year, under an international scholarship program, the American Field Service.

FOREIGN students who will take part in the show are Meas Seam Dany of Cambodia and Peter Lier of Switzerland, both attending Acalanes High School; Oida Maria Acuna-Bonilla of Costa Rica and Enzo Lazzaro of Italy, both enrolled at Las Lomas; Elizabeth Davidson of Sweden and Jean Michel of France, both at Miramonte.

Also performing will be Annik Martin of France, attending Mt. Diablo High School; Henning Richter of Germany, a student at Pleasant Hill, Ubaedy Dadih of Indonesia, at Clayton, and Hans Schultz of Germany, attending Antioch High School.

This is the third year that the local A.F.S. committee has organized a talent show, and it has proven a very successful venture. Youth groups and families are especially invited to attend.

Tickets for the performance are priced at 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for students. They may be obtained from members of the A.F.S. committee, the A.F.S. club members, or at the door.

Mrs. Dwight Howard is in charge of the talent show, with Mrs. Tom Casady serving as ticket chairman. Members of the A.F.S. club at Las Lomas are making posters and selling tickets. Proceeds from the show will go toward bringing two more foreign students to Las Lomas next year.
